Lowe's Donates $2 Million to Hurricane Helene Relief Efforts

Along with the donation, Lowe's continues to provide relief through supplies and employee support.

CHARLOTTE, N.C., Oct. 23, 2024 - Lowe's has announced its pledge to donate $2 million towards relief efforts in the aftermath of Hurricane Helene. Additionally, the company is offering additional types of support.

"Our thoughts and prayers go out to everyone affected," said Marvin Ellison, Lowe's CEO. "I am extremely grateful for our associates and first responders who are working tirelessly to serve these communities."

Hurricane Helene has caused devastating widespread damage across a large portion of the southeastern U.S. including at least 200 deaths and $39 billion. Lowe's has pledged its commitment to help those affected by the disaster. The financial contribution is just one of its support efforts. The company has also donated essential supplies like tarps, generators, water, gas and meals to the affected areas and associates.

Customers can donate through Lowe's when checking out at stores with a certain amount, or by simply rounding to the nearest dollar. To donate through Lowes, visit <https://corporate.lowes.com/newsroom/stories/serving-communities>.
