

Janna Eerkens is a full-time college student who currently plans to major in English (but she is very indecisive, so this could change very fast). Eerkens loves reading—perhaps a bit too much, she could stand to spend more time doing other things—and writing and all kinds of different visual arts.