

Agentic Print Camp: Four One-Day Unconferences Coming in 2027

The first camp is in Chicago on January 29, 2027 at swissQprint. Sharp, Heidelberg, and Konica Minolta to also host camps.

THE INTERNET - October 20, 2026 -Agentic Print will host four Agentic Print Camps in 2027, bringing people from across the print industry together to explore the emerging practice of autonomous print. Each one-day camp will take place at a print equipment manufacturer's demo center.

Agentic Print, an independent community supported by Taktiful, also publishes Agentic Print Weekly, a weekly email newsletter covering developments in agentic print. Taktiful Chief Experience Officer Eric Vessels leads the project with Kevin Abergel, Taktiful's co-founder. Adam Dewitz, CTO at WhatTheyThink, serves as an advisor.

Each camp will be an unconference: attendees will set the agenda together at the start of the day. They can share tools, ask questions and work through real-world challenges with their peers.

The camps are open to print service providers, equipment manufacturers, software companies and other print professionals. Whether attendees are already working with AI agents or just beginning to explore them, they are welcome.

Date	Region	Host	Location
Friday, January 29, 2027	Chicago	swissQprint	West Dundee, Illinois
Friday, March 19, 2027	West Coast	Sharp	Santa Ana, California
Friday, May 21, 2027	Atlanta	Heidelberg	Marietta, Georgia
Friday, July 30, 2027	New York	Konica Minolta	Ramsey, New Jersey

Each camp has the same schedule, in local time:

- 8:00 a.m.: Arrival and coffee
- 9:00 a.m.: Kickoff. The attendees make the agenda.
- 5:00 p.m.: End of the day

“We’ve been following agentic print and publishing a weekly newsletter since first discovering Bernd Zipper’s white paper,” said Eric Vessels, Chief Experience Officer at Taktiful and founder of agenticprint.org. “We’re excited to take this on the road with unconference events that give people working in agentic print a chance to collaborate and build together. A big thanks to our host sponsors for providing the facilities for these events.”

“Agentic print is where our industry is going, and Taktiful wants to help printers get there,” said Kevin Abergel, co-founder of Taktiful. “We’re proud to support the Agentic Print community and to have Eric lead the project alongside his work at Taktiful.”

Registration is not yet open. To receive a save-the-date and a notification when registration opens, visit www.agenticprint.org/camp and select the camps you’re interested in attending.

Media and association partnership opportunities are available. See below for contact information.

About Agentic Print

Agentic Print is a new community for the emerging craft of autonomous print. Agentic Print publishes Agentic Print Weekly, a newsletter about AI agents in the print industry. Agentic Print also publishes the AI Scorecard at score.agenticprint.org. For more information, go to agenticprint.org.

About Taktiful

Taktiful is a digital embellishment consultancy and education company for commercial print. Taktiful supports Agentic Print. For more information, go to taktiful.com.

Media Contact

Eric Vessels | eric@taktiful.com | 740-417-3333

###