

Pictures included where I could find appropriate images. Some pets just don't have close comparison pictures available, so they get left without them. Gaston is one example. Nikolai is another.

Current Companions

Always Present:

S.A.I.

Species: Sentient Magical Anomaly

Description:

S.A.I. is short for Supernatural Artificial Intelligence. She is a magical symbiote created for the sole purpose of aiding her host in all matters of health and intelligence. In practice, she is Natsumi's personal attendant, and has been for longer than most people on Revaliir have been alive.

The fox first came into contact with SAI before coming to Revaliir, but the two were separated by the events of Timedeath. Natsumi was reunited with her symbiotic physician sometime later in the ruins of Tinashe: the long lost capital of a city-state on the Plains of Bohar. The two remained together afterward until SAI temporarily passed from Natsumi's hands into Skadi's; but once the goddess's reign was up the original partners reformed their contract. Till this day, their symbiosis holds.

Details:

SAI is particularly complicated, so here is a list of details to help --

- She feels no pain: physical, mental or psychological.
- She is not separable from her host except under special circumstances; even by death since she is tied directly to the essence of said host
- She possesses her own mana supply that restores itself over time
- She can cast any spell that her host knows, so long as it is defensive in nature.
- All clothing, armor and accessories that her host wears after acquiring her is actually SAI's physical form. (she becomes the host's skin in a manner of speaking and also everything on said skin)
- Anything inanimate that the host puts on after SAI is activated can potentially be assimilated by her for future use. This is how she acquires new clothing for her host to wear.
- She is malleable, able to adapt to her host's proportions whenever they shapeshift or grow.
- She can change color with ease.
- She can absorb inanimate objects besides clothing like artifacts, maps, and other things in order to acquire new forms and functionalities. She can even duplicate the magical qualities of said items verbatim as if they were still separate entities.
- She is able to vocalize despite the apparent lack of a voice box, and can even synthesize music without the need for instruments.
- She is able to collect her own sensory data from the environment despite an apparent lack of sensory organs.
- In dead zones, her form becomes static, her sensory functions cease operation, and her vocalization disappears. She can still communicate mentally with her host and still maintain consciousness, but she's stuck in whatever form she entered the deadzone in. Practically speaking, this just means that Natsumi can't change clothes.
- If in areas with enough light, SAI can create a holographic image of what she believes is her self-given persona.(see picture)
- She has perfect memory.
- She is a linguistic prodigy as part of her design.
- She can affect the vision of her host in a way that makes them see a "HUD" of information relevant to them.
- She can help regulate the bodily functions of her host in ways that would make any medical professional jealous.
- She has a "restrain button" built in that can be activated by certain individuals. It does what you might think to Natsumi.

Sometimes Present:

Gaston:

Species: Mole-sapien

Description: Gaston is a very unique mole who has no family of his own and would be a complete loner if not for Natsumi. Compared to the rest of his species, he stands significantly taller and has more developed hands and feet. He is about the size of a halfling, in this respect.

Intelligence wise, Gaston is capable of significantly advanced behavior. He has an understanding of anatomy and medicine, often acting as a doctor for his friends when needed.

Gaston no longer travels with Natsumi, but he is blessed by longevity and lives happily with the other loners of Virens.

Rauru:

Species: Ancient Harpy Eagle

Description: Rauru was originally a companion of the Nameless One, but he became distant after her ascension. He later returned to say goodbye to her when she was leaving the world, somehow knowing her time had come. It was revealed then that Rauru is not actually a typical harpy eagle and belongs to a rarer supra-species.

Ancient harpy eagles look like regular ones with black and white feathers, but they also live much longer. Rauru is one of the last of his kind, and he's still considered barely a chick at fifty years based on his race's normal lifespan. Rauru doesn't particularly care about the plight of his race, though, since he's never seen a female to mate with in the first place. He's pretty much a loner, in this respect.

Personality wise, this ancient harpy eagle's most unique characteristic is that he likes to ride around in backpacks. Other than that, he often displays an unusually sarcastic personality. He enjoys making fun of humans, especially. He currently lives in Virens with Li, Gaston, and Nikolai.

Li:

Species: Ancient Great Brown Bear

Description: Li is Rauru's buddy: another ancient supra-species that lives far longer than his more common brethren. The two of them adore each other, even if they aren't always together. As a bear, Li is particularly odd. He loves wearing backpacks for Rauru to ride in when he's around, and has a fascination with stringed instruments. Compared to his eagle friend, though, Li is much more docile in his attitude toward others. He is also on the small side for even a normal brown bear.

Nowadays, Li typically lives with Gaston in Virens Forest, helping to protect the local wildlife and also visiting with Natsumi when she's around.

Nikolai

Species: Magical Platypus

Description: Nikolai is a magical platypus from Feeorin Forest that has an unhealthy fascination with explosive mixtures and a Slavic accent. He is smaller than normal platypuses, but much more intelligent and doesn't require the same amount of food to sustain himself. He used to hang around the Nameless One constantly, but has since moved back into old habits after she became distant. He can now be found in Virens Forest most of the time, chatting up hunters with his unique ability for the human tongue. He also hits on any woman he sees coming through.

Nikolai mainly sleeps in the vicinity of Gaston and Li. Together, the three are a trio of workers, even if Nikolai himself is more of a squeaky wheel than helpful. He would say, however, "At least my knowledge of traps comes in handy for you ingrates."

Inactive Companions

These companions are either deceased, not currently active, or future ideas for companions. Please don't pay attention to these if you're looking for creatures that might show up in our thread.

Potential Companions in the Future:

<Insert Name>

Species: Arriese Rose Hydra

Description: <Insert Description>