Story:

It would have been a boring day inside the Parking lot, until Pat poured a small vial into their cup of Ginger Ale. It was intentional, at first. His had always wanted to become a(n) Camel. After taking the first sip, they felt Soft on the inside. A good start, they figured. However, unseen to them, their Legs already started to grow, in a very unnatural way, and their body was starting to take on a Purple discoloration from under the clothes.

Suddenly, Pat's Brother Jane showed up from behind. Pat was shocked, but before they could say anything, Jane swooped in and took Pat's drink from them. Pat looked on in Despair suddenly as Jane gulped down the rest of Pat's special drink. Big mistake.

Moments passed like eternity. Pat tried to play it cool, but nearby witnesses could definitely Smell something was awry.

Pat felt immediate Worried from what happened next. Pat's arms were suddenly Large as each one slowly turned into a Foot of the creature. How embarrassing and strange! Pat's Sock suddenly ripped open to reveal a Normal Penis underneath.

Pat tried standing up, using their Head as the new feet from which they stood. It was already all too natural. Pat opened His mouth, trying to speak, but suddenly they made a(n) Honk. Finally transformed, Pat felt Exhausted about it overall, mostly because their line of sight was still wrong. Pat was more worried about Jane.

However, it didn't matter as much, as overdosing the vial had its own side effect. Pat looked at the giant Plushie sitting next to them, still in Jane's clothes.
