

Leeches begone

How to change your username for free

Requirements:

- Something that sounds like a name, the more it sounds like a name the better.
- An account

How this method works

This method takes advantage of the fact roblox doesn't allow you to use your real name. (but not against you, for your safety)

Method

Go to <https://www.roblox.com/support> and fill in a full name, if your username is for example: bobthebuilderovich, you make your full name Bob Theb, find two words in your username that can work as a name and family name, I am unsure if this can work with only a name that is a part of the username and a whole different family name but you can try. Then put in your email address and your roblox username.

This doesn't matter which device you set the issue in, I used PC.

Then select the category to How to and the subcategory to How To - other.

The format of the letter should go as this (do not copy it exactly):

Hello I am (full name) ,

It has recently come to my attention roblox doesn't allow users to use their real names in their username and I do not want to put myself in danger so I want to change it.

Please change it to something I don't really care what I am just scared my full name can get people to find more information about me.

Thanks

(Full name)

The reason why you are saying that you don't care which username you get is because they offer it anyways, after you send the message you should get this response:

Hello

Thank you for contacting Roblox Customer Care for your concern related to username change.

We are able to assist with a username change. However, before we can proceed, we need your new username choices. Please reply to this message with three potential new usernames and list them in order of preference, with the one you like the best listed first.

When selecting new potential usernames, please keep the following in mind:

Usernames must be 4–20 characters long

Usernames can be a combination of letters, numbers, and one underscore (_)

Usernames must contain at least one letter

Usernames may not begin or end with an underscore, and only one underscore may be used

Usernames should not contain the player's name or any other personally identifiable information

Current places or games set with the default place name (username's Place Number: 1) will appear under the old username until manually updated

Usernames belonging to another account may not be used (This includes alt accounts, banned accounts, and accounts that have been inactive or deleted)

Make sure to use the People Search function on our website to ensure that your selected names are not already in use by any account. Remember that usernames must meet our Roblox Community Rules.

Once we receive your choices, we can change the username on your account for you.

Sincerely,

Customer Care

Roblox

Now, all you have to do is give them 3 potential usernames, and after approximately a day you should get your new username.

The benefit of this method is that this doesn't appear to be a name change and fully changes your name without history of it ever changing, this can be good if you want to return to a community you aren't accepted in but wish to retain your regular account.

Method 2

In the second method, you do the same steps but in the explanation of why you would like your name changed, you say that people are threatening to dox you and you wouldn't want more people to threaten to dox you so you would like to change your username, the reason why you say you don't care if your account's name won't be changed to something you'd like is so they would think that you are concerned for your security and not anything else, but they still let you choose usernames.

This is not my method but it has been suggested.

I am unsure of how successful this method is as I haven't tested it myself but it sounds legit.

End!