Emergency Plan

We will depart SF around 10am on Saturday to arrive at the Tahoe Valley Campground around 2pm.

Our plan is to arrive back in SF on Monday around 1:30pm

Cell service should be available but If you cannot reach us it does not necessarily indicate a problem.

In the Event of an Emergency

We will first render First Aid or take immediate action on site. The biggest concerns are frostbite, dehydration, and sunburn. There is a medic on site.

If cell service is available we may contact the Park Ranger (530 541 2222) and/or 911. Because the campground is adjacent to a hospital, it may be more expedient to just go there.

Parents will be notified ASAP (either concurrent with, or immediately following emergency aid, depending on the situation). The first priority is always to stabilize the person in need.

Each Scout should have a personal first aid kit. Scoutmaster has a larger first aid kit in his tent.

Klondike Competition Resources

There will be two sessions of competitions as well as a sled race. The two sessions will comprise multiple stations. There will be 4-6 stations before lunch (session 1) and 4 -6 stations after lunch (session 2). Each patrol is expected to finish as many stations as they can. Each station will be scored. For the sled race, the fastest team wins. The patrol with the overall best score will be the Klondike champion. The stations will challenge scouts in some scout skills (fire building, knot tying) and others will challenge accuracy, balance, and memory.

LET'S TRY TO WIN!!!!

Skit: Santa on Trial/Santa Court

- Put Santa on trial
- Prosecutor says 'your sleigh doesn't follow physics' 'breaking and entering' and whatever else crimes he breaks.
- Inevitably find him guilty.

Script:

"The Trial of Santa Claus"

A comedic courtroom skit

Characters:

Judge Frost – No-nonsense but slightly amused

Prosecutor Grinchman – Eager to take Santa down

Defense Attorney Jollypuff – Passionate but struggling

Santa Claus – Jolly but increasingly worried

Bailiff Elfson – Takes their job way too seriously

Random Witnesses – Reindeer, elves, a child, and a scientist

Scene: A courtroom. Santa sits in the defendant's chair, nervously tugging at his beard.

Bailiff Elfson:

(All rise) "This court is now in session! The Honorable Judge Frost presiding."

Judge Frost:

(Sitting down) "We are here today in the case of The People vs. Santa Claus. Mr. Grinchman, please state the charges."

Prosecutor Grinchman:

"Your Honor, the defendant, Santa Claus, is guilty of numerous crimes, including:

1. Defying the laws of physics. His sleigh moves at impossible speeds. No known fuel source explains its propulsion!
2. Breaking and entering. He sneaks into houses worldwide without consent.
3. Unlawful surveillance. He spies on every child 24/7.
4. Animal cruelty. Flying reindeer? Forced to work under extreme conditions.
5. Tax evasion. Billions of dollars of gifts, no reported income."

Judge Frost:

(Raises an eyebrow) "That's... quite the list. Defense, do you have a response?"

Defense Attorney Jollypuff:

(Standing, nervously flipping through notes) "Uh... well, Santa does a lot of good! He spreads joy and gives free presents!"

Prosecutor Grinchman:

(Leaning in) "You admit he doesn't charge for goods? Illegal business practices! He's undercutting legitimate toy companies!"

Santa Claus:

(Laughing nervously) "Ho, ho, ho! This is all a misunderstanding, I assure you—"

Prosecutor Grinchman:

(Snaps) "Silence, Claus! We have witnesses."

Witness 1: Scientist

Prosecutor Grinchman: "Explain why Santa's sleigh is impossible."

Scientist: "Given the speed he needs to travel—over 1,800 miles per second—he and the reindeer would be incinerated instantly."

Santa Claus: (Wiping sweat) "Ever heard of Christmas magic?"

Witness 2: Kid Who Woke Up

Prosecutor Grinchman: "Did you see the defendant inside your house?"

Kid: "Yeah! He was eating cookies and putting presents under the tree."

Prosecutor Grinchman: "A confession! That's trespassing and theft of cookies!"

Santa Claus: (Whispers) "But they were left out for me!"

Witness 3: Rudolph

Defense Attorney Jollypuff: "Rudolph, are you forced to work against your will?"

Rudolph: "Well, I was bullied into leading the sleigh..."

Santa Claus: "We talked about this, Rudolph!"

Verdict

Judge Frost: "The jury has reached a verdict. Santa Claus, you are guilty of physics violations, illegal entry, and mass surveillance. Your sentence: 100 hours of community service... delivering presents."

Santa Claus: "So... business as usual?"

Judge Frost: (Smirking) "Exactly."

Bailiff Elfson: "Court adjourned!"

(Santa winks at the camera and vanishes up the chimney.)

The End.
