<https://www.nps.gov/grsm/learn/nature/fireflies.htm>

10:07:32 From Barb : thanks Jocelyn, hoped there was a MI one

10:08:22 From KarenD : That's good news because I'm not sure I can do what was originally planned.

10:08:37 From Kristin Fontichiaro : @Barb - maybe you can invent one. LED throws = LED bulb taped around a magnet that you can toss up a pole or a metallic surface — DIY fireflies???

10:09:02 From Kristin Fontichiaro : *throwies

10:09:13 From Cathy Lancaster : Decorate empty bottles with a glowstick

10:09:40 From Cathy Lancaster : inside...

10:10:03 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Wait - I left out the CR-2032 batteries. Throws = LED bulb + battery + magnet. You could also make paper flashlights that people — from a safe distance — could twinkle on and off.

10:10:15 From Kristin Fontichiaro : *THROWIES, not throw. Sheesh.

10:10:22 From Sarah Swiderski : I love the paper flashlights!

10:10:32 From Kristin Fontichiaro : @Sarah and paper flashlights go WAY back :)

10:10:43 From Gillian Streeter : We've done throwies as a teen program, a great tutorial on instructables on adapting throwies for young audiences

10:10:55 From Syntha : fireflies out of easter eggs

10:11:11 From LIZ BREED : <https://bit.ly/MeLWorldBook>

10:14:19 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Ugh - I meant ! And not ?

10:14:58 From Janice Heilman - Howell, MI : Can you link directly to the activities in WorldBook?

10:15:12 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Paper flashlight info:

10:17:59 From Janice Heilman - Howell, MI : Thank you Cathy & Liz!

10:18:02 From Cindi Place : So then we can just share with a link from our drive?

10:18:12 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Yep!

10:18:22 From Jeannine - Melvindale : I love that there is Arabic!!!

10:18:37 From Cathy Lancaster : Exactly - you could build folders and like I do for these meetings, create bit.ly links that are easy for families to remember.

10:19:30 From Cathy Lancaster : Activity Corner is available through May 31st. But if you save the files as Google docs, you can continue to use them...

10:19:33 From Rebecca : @ Jeannine IKR!?

10:20:39 From Kristin Fontichiaro : I think they are both Spanish. Either that, or my Italian is really bad. :)

10:20:51 From Beth Pierson : It's not Italian

10:20:56 From Cathy Lancaster : Ha! Ok

10:21:06 From Cathy Lancaster : I learned German so... lol I'm not a great source.

10:21:15 From Janice Heilman - Howell, MI : What do you think the odds are that they'll extend access past May 30?

10:22:03 From Allison Boyer : It is another Spanish resource. Upper level.

10:22:21 From Janice Heilman - Howell, MI : Thanks Liz!

10:23:24 From BSDL_Kaitlin : Thank you Liz- you rock!

10:24:33 From Allison Boyer : thank you!

10:24:39 From Cathy Lancaster : https://bit.ly/MiYouth_4_29_20

10:24:53 From Yessenia Carrillo : thank you Liz

10:24:56 From Beth : I did read this week that Maslow never intended the hierarchy of needs to be a pyramid and that any of those needs can co-exist at the same time and be equally important.

10:24:58 From KimWilcox : They're really going to want programming--in person if they could.

10:25:01 From Laura : getting out of the house

10:25:01 From Audra from Saline District Library : books to borrow!

10:25:02 From mg : not more computer time?

10:25:02 From Hollie Ayres : engagement

10:25:03 From Barb : something to do

10:25:03 From Cindi Place : Some type of re-connection

10:25:05 From Sara Grochowski : Connection

10:25:07 From jacquelinethompson : activities

10:25:07 From Tina St John : engagement

10:25:10 From Athena Sherbert : Connection with others

10:25:20 From Sam (NADL) : Safe socializing

10:25:25 From Andy Schuck : connection/engagement

10:25:26 From Athena Sherbert : Ways to keep themselves busy with meaningful activities

10:25:28 From Sarah Swiderski : sorry didn't mean to hit caps

10:25:29 From Stephanie Reinhardt : Activities and Resources - I've heard a lot of people have exhausted their books at home.

10:25:32 From Ashley Nizinski : Activities they can do at home with their kids (in pick-up kits)

10:25:37 From Sara Grochowski : Anything that takes some of the pressure off the parents.

10:25:39 From Ann Best : reconnection and a bit of normalcy-lol

10:25:46 From Cindi Place : I REALLY hope we have some way to connect physically before the end of summer.

10:25:53 From Kristin Fontichiaro : @Sarah - I thought the caps were perfect!

10:25:55 From barb dinan : social connection

10:26:10 From Gillian Streeter : community, connection, keeping skills & interest in reading up, structure & familiarity

10:26:13 From Jeanette Smith : Anything we can offer them! I know they will be looking forward to anything in-house, which, unfortunately will have to wait until fall for that.

10:26:18 From Athena Sherbert : Something - anything - that provides some consistency... something that the kids can look forward to on a regular basis & know they can count on.

10:26:28 From barb dinan : real paper books

10:26:44 From lisamurawa : I think they'll want less digital because they've had to turn to that with schoolwork

10:26:48 From Macy : people, connection, hands on activities

10:26:48 From Cindi Place : I think face to face is a way to help those families who do not have internet access can participate.

10:27:03 From linda : YES!! Play!

10:27:21 From Cindi Place : Imaginative play

10:27:26 From Alexa : I am worried about how to keep families safe but also engaged and connected. Less digital and in person puts me on edge

10:27:28 From Carla Sharp : Play they can do together

10:27:46 From Julie : That is the type of video presentations I have been doing. Crafts from recycled materials from home.

10:27:48 From Stephanie Reinhardt : NAEYC did a really good Making and Tinkering for early childhood webinar this week, on the play front.

10:27:54 From Kristin Fontichiaro : (((((There's something great coming about this!))))

10:28:01 From BSDL_Kaitlin : I would love to see a list of items for a kit to get ideas

10:28:05 From Kristin Fontichiaro : @Stephanie - I have their book on making and tinkering (NAEYC) also good!

10:28:27 From Kristin Fontichiaro : You would love to see a list of items, @BSDL_Kaitlin? Stay tuned ...

10:28:45 From KimWilcox : They may want someone else to engage with their kids for a while, with new faces.

10:28:46 From cmcwhinnie : Julie is the milk carton craft queen

10:29:12 From Julia B : @Julie...please share resource for fire station...

10:29:20 From Jeanette Smith : Great idea, Julie! :)

10:29:40 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Troy Public Library FB post

10:29:42 From Lauren : I'll put the link in here

10:29:47 From Liat : Troy public library youth services facebook page!

10:29:57 From Sarah Swiderski : good fine motor practice!

10:29:57 From Lauren : <https://www.facebook.com/tplyouth/>

10:31:06 From Jen Taggart : Check out this great at home activity connection idea (that's great for all abilities) from the British Museum - scroll down to the Museum at Home section <https://www.autisminmuseums.com/early-morning-explorers-at-the-british-museum-april-2020/>

10:31:17 From Cindi Place : We did an activity this week where kids gather leaves, sticks, stones from outside and then used the materials to make self portraits

10:31:30 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Ooh, love this self-portrait idea!

10:33:28 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Think about things kids can make that later become things they can play with (like trains). So that way busy wfh parents get two rounds of engagement for their kids!

10:33:39 From Cindi Place : I think we are going to need to do both - virtual and hands on 10:33:47 From Sarah Swiderski : @Jen so more asynchronous programming?

10:34:04 From Cindi Place : Getting the word out

10:34:08 From Sara Grochowski : Access to resources

10:34:08 From Donna Herman : Participiation due to digital divide

10:34:09 From Audra from Saline District Library : How much feedback and responses are you getting from the community/parents/kids? We are not getting too many fb replies beyond likes.

10:34:10 From Diane DeVries : Technology working well for patrons

10:34:12 From Kiel Stevens : Reaching those without digital access

10:34:24 From Gillian Streeter : engagement when there is SO much digital content for patrons to use

10:34:27 From Beth : going virtual for the first time - designing virtual program for the first time

10:34:27 From Kristin Fondriest : Loss of engagement, not reaching as many families, especially those that may not have access to internet

10:34:32 From Tina St John : Connecting with those who don't have digital access

10:34:45 From Teresa Natzke : All the tech involved in doing everything online

10:34:48 From Ann Best : with no summer school we will have more of a transportation issue to get kids in the door

10:35:00 From Cindi Place : We are hoping that we may be able to gather in August (maybe outside for more social distancing room) and show the virtual program

10:35:13 From Dixie Andres : Getting to kids who have no technology or poor internet due to home location.

10:35:33 From Cindi Place : Social distancing is so hard when we are a very small (less than 3,000 sq feet) building

10:36:07 From Cindi Place : No a downer...just a challenge to include everything and everyone

10:36:08 From Jeanette Smith : Social distancing is definitely a challenge

10:36:11 From Sam (NADL) : I wonder what this means for outdoor performances

10:36:23 From Sarah : Do you think we can do programming outdoors?

10:36:51 From KimWilcox : Wonder how long vendors/companies will offer internet/access to online help for patrons?

10:36:58 From Allison Boyer : I really liked the Indiana Webinar that was shared out. It really helped organize my brain about replanning SRP;

10:37:20 From Audra from Saline District Library : Allison, I agree, it helped me, too.

10:37:25 From Kristin Fontichiaro : michigan.gov/coronavirus

10:37:25 From Cindi Place : Honestly, we are finding now that libraries are getting deserved credit for thinking outside the box and offering lots of programming and ideas

10:37:39 From Jocelyn Levin : Allison is that webinar linked to in our shared file?

10:37:45 From Jozefa : I actually worry more about people who don't take social distancing seriously because it threatens any gathering you might try that is following safety guidelines.

10:37:53 From Kristin Fontichiaro : @Jozefa - that is my concern as well

10:38:02 From Cindi Place : Jozefa - exactly

10:38:05 From Allison Boyer : Jocelyn, I will find it. I believe Cathy had shared it out.

10:38:07 From Sam (NADL) : @Jozefa, agreed 100%

10:38:07 From Sarah : I wondered if we could offer two shorter (half hour) shows and have kids sign up so we only have half our normal group size at once.

10:38:09 From Kristin Fondriest : I think trying to address the inequities in access to technology through partnerships with other organizations to try and reach as many families as we can with whatever programming we offer... printing things in local newspapers, mailing things out (kits, etc.), working with other service organizations that work with families

10:38:18 From Cindi Place : Patrons AND staff

10:38:30 From Allison Boyer :
<https://continuinged.isl.in.gov/summer-reading-2020-planning-in-a-time-of-pandemic-1-leu/>

10:38:41 From Jozefa : Teen volunteer police????

10:38:57 From Carla Sharp : No teen volunteers

10:38:58 From Gillian Streeter : That puts the teens at risk though

10:39:00 From Cindi Place : Man yes, those teens LOVE to enforce rules!

10:39:33 From Jozefa : Hilarious reversal of roles :)

10:39:35 From Cindi Place : Vulnerable people will still be vulnerable

10:40:17 From Kristin Fontichiaro : Info on Whitmer plan:
<https://www.uppermichiganssource.com/content/news/MI-Safe-Start-plan-for-opening-Michigans-economy-569998561.html>

10:40:26 From BSDL_Kaitlin : now is a time to be careful and keep our communities safe

10:40:32 From Cathy : if we can offer a variety of options, parents will do what they feel comfortable with for their families

10:40:38 From Cindi Place : Surveying families...ask them what they need want from SRP

10:41:45 From Kristin Fontichiaro : I love this idea — you can then go back and tell complainers, “This is what the community asked for.” It’s not about you that way :)

10:41:48 From Tina St John : With prizes, my library is considering using gift certificates to local businesses which some can be a virtual certificate. Could be something to check out; the virtual certificates from local businesses for prizes this summer.

10:41:50 From Cindi Place : Think about our WHY. we feel that SRP is about READING! so what can we do to encourage and reward reading this summer.

10:41:50 From Lindsay Gojcay : Novi Library has a virtual summer programming survey out now.

10:41:55 From Diane DeVries : The theme this year goes well because we can say "Imagine your own story" for the summer.

10:42:07 From cmcwhinnie : CMPL surveyed

10:42:17 From BSDL_Kaitlin : @Diane OMG I didn't even think of that!

10:42:19 From Rebecca : @diane lol

10:42:37 From Lindsay Gojcay : Novi used language from another library, but here is ours:
https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSdP8uBJZK5096XWhw_HwByOzX4YtMCIWbivxvJCdpkBGVQyx/viewform

10:42:50 From Bethany Harnden : How have your libraries conducted the surveys?

10:42:52 From Patty Rockafellow : Learning Wandoo Reader

10:43:10 From Patty Rockafellow : Thank goodness that fairy tales are public domain!

10:43:16 From Lindsay Gojcaj : @Bethany - Novi has the survey on our website, social media, and went out in an e-newsletter

10:44:55 From Cindi Place : Encouraging families to go outside, so SRP activities that incorporate those types of activities. I think families will have serious cabin fever issues by June!

10:45:10 From Dixie Andres : Summer Reading Program Proposal to give a heads up to Director and Staff.

10:45:26 From Cindi Place : New normal can be a positive theme

10:45:35 From Patty Rockafellow : Imagine Your Story-at Home!

10:45:49 From Cathy : try something new

10:45:49 From Patty Rockafellow : Yes

10:45:55 From Patty Rockafellow : Yes to Joel

10:45:58 From Jennifer Sunderhaus : but if everyone is outside, there is the concern of social distancing. people are getting tickets for going to parks

10:46:24 From linda : I saw that--it was really cute!!

10:46:40 From Denise Lovse : create your fantasy world based on a story you read out of recycled materials.

10:46:44 From Cindi Place : We have always wanted a real slide down the basement stairs - great idea for grandparents! (As parents we would NEVER consider this, right?)

10:46:55 From KarenD : We all know Joel did that for himself. I'm sure he's been down it. :)

10:46:58 From Cathy Lancaster : @Cindi go for it

10:47:02 From Cindi Place : Denise - love that idea!

10:47:15 From Kristin Fontichiaro :
