Greetings!

You are teaching at an institution where the adjunct faculty have unionized, and we are writing to you today as representatives of your union. For over twenty years, adjunct faculty at NYU have come together to improve our teaching conditions and student learning conditions as members of ACT-UAW Local 7902. At Academics Come Together (ACT), an amalgamated local of the United Auto Workers (UAW), adjunct faculty are covered by a contract which we have collectively bargained for higher wages and improved benefits and working conditions.

To become a member, fill out this digital card. Please include your n-number at the top of your application (that's the Univ ID located at the back of your NYU ID card). There are two places on the card to sign and become a member. Digital signatures will be accepted. Email your completed application to our union administrator mail@actuaw.org and our Unit Chair David Palmer at nyu@actuaw.org.

Alternatively, you may print out the card that's included in this email with your appointment letter and mail your letter to the address located in the letterhead.

You are eligible to join our union if you teach 40 or more hours of instruction in one or more courses per academic year or 75 contact hours of individualized instruction or tutoring during a semester. Adjunct faculty who are covered by the contract must pay either union dues or an agency fee to the union as a condition of continued employment at NYU. Your dues are 1.44% of your gross wages and are retroactive to the beginning of the academic year (which begins in September). There is also a one-time initiation fee of $50. As a member of our union you will be able to vote in leadership elections, attend union meetings, run for union office, and participate in bargaining our next contract. If you have any questions about your union eligibility, please reach out to either of us via our email addresses in the signature blocks below. After signing your union membership card, we strongly encourage you to organize with us and join in the fight for workers' rights at NYU! To learn about opportunities to get involved, email David Palmer at nyu@actuaw.org.

Your participation in your union makes the adjunct faculty and NYU communities stronger. Please join now if you haven't already.

In Solidarity,

David Palmer

ARTICLE XV - HEALTH AND SAFETY; PAID SICK AND SAFE LEAVE

A. The University shall make reasonable attempts to maintain in safe working condition the assigned workplace and equipment required to carry out assigned duties. The University shall otherwise comply with University health and safety policies and procedures, including, but not limited to, NYU's Environmental Health and Safety Policy, as it may exist from time to time. For avoidance of doubt, there will be no retaliatory disciplinary action (as discipline is defined in Article XVII) against any adjunct faculty member for the good faith reporting of any suspected violation of this subparagraph, even if the reporting ultimately proves to be without merit. An adjunct faculty member may be subject to disciplinary action if shown to have knowingly filed a false report.

B. Adjunct faculty shall comply with all University directives, policies or procedures concerning workplace health and safety.

C. At least two University representatives and two Union-designated representatives, at the request of either party, will meet at a mutually agreeable time and place, as frequently as every two months during each contract year, to discuss information requests and any other matters relating to health and safety including, but not limited to, environmental health and safety policies and procedures; occupational health policies and procedures; workplace violence prevention policies and procedures; and/or applicable standards under the Occupational Safety and Health Act, the New York Health and Essential Rights Act, or any other applicable local, state, and/or federal laws and regulations addressing employment health and safety.

D. Paid Sick and Safe Leave

This section sets forth the paid sick and safe leave (collectively, "sick leave" or "sick days") available to adjunct faculty.

1.) Uses/Number of Sick Days. Sick leave for adjuncts may be used for any of the purposes set forth in the New York City Earned Safe and Sick Time Act (Local Law 46 of 2013, as amended) and the New York State Paid Sick Leave Law (Section 196-b of the New York Labor Law). An adjunct may use up to seven sick days during the course of an academic year, subject to the following semester/term limits. An adjunct may use no more than four sick days during the fall semester, three sick days during J-term, four sick days during the spring semester, or three sick days during the summer semester, provided that the adjunct has sick days available during that semester or term. The sick days available to an adjunct during a semester or term will be available as of the first day of the semester or term.

The current practice will continue where an adjunct may make up a class at a later date in lieu of using a sick day.

2.) Notification. In the case of needing to take a sick day, the adjunct should notify their school's HR department and their academic chair or director as soon as reasonably possible that they will not be able to teach a class session. An adjunct may also be required to log into the University's time and absence recording system and select the applicable sick leave code.

3.) Waiver/Acknowledgment. In light of the foregoing, the provisions of the New York City Earned Safe and Sick Time Act (Local Law 46 of 2013, as amended) and the New York State Paid Sick Leave Law (Section 196-b of the New York Labor Law) are waived. It is specifically acknowledged that the benefits/paid days off provided herein are comparable to, and therefore in lieu of, paid sick leave provided under Section 196-b of the New York Labor Law.
