Personality

Personality wise Cecil is playful yet a morbid individual. Though he does not take pleasure in others suffering. Due to this he tries to crack rather morbid and almost eerie pranks and jokes amongst citizens and his crew mates. Which do not play off well scaring most within his ranks. Cecil enjoys collecting bones and other things that once belonged to the dead and seems to make taxidermy figures. As a way to relax himself though one could express these taxidermy projects as monsters as he adds on random animal parts or monster parts. As he exclaims them to be adorable.

Though behind this lies a man who has very little respect for criminals and those who commit crimes. Wanting to test them to their fullest to find any ounce of redeemable qualities or none at all. As he believes it's his duty to decide when their string of fate can be cut or when it can not be cut. The Harold of death awaits.

Fighting Style

Restricting Electro Chains- Burial by sea eels.

Cecil utilises his chains in a restricting and agile manner. Allowing for Cecil to utilise his chains as a way to grab onto his enemies and pull them towards him. As well as using his chains as a way to improve his mobility. Secondly this fighting style incorporates his racial ability of Electro allowing for Cecil to electrify his chains making them even more fatal. Cecil utilises his coffin in this fighting style as both a blunt weapon that smashes against his foes and something he can trap his foes inside.

Techniques

Penance

Cecil releases the hidden chains from his sleeves and swiftly swings them forward in a wide sweeping motion towards his foes. Creating an electrical current through his chains shocking multiple targets at once.

Wrath

The chains wrap around Cecil's hands and arms forming into armour of sorts. As electrical currents move through them. Adding a hardness to Cecil's punches as well as increasing electrical shock of his hits.

Redemption

Cecil utilises his chains to swing his large coffin forward as it opens up as it traps an enemy within it. As it slams shut those trapped within are met with spikes from all sides made of iron. As well as small electrical currents running through the coffin as Cecil proceeds to electrocute the target trapped within the coffin. As their bodies run against the sharp spikes.

HISTORY

Born on a travelling funeral ship in the east blue. To a woman by the name Katrina and A mink by the name of Orin. They raised

Cecil amongst the dead and the sea. Due to this Cecil was rather morbid and unfazed by the dead growing up. Once his mink side started to show his father started to train him in electro as his mother would teach him about the body and how to tell how somebody or something died. Explaining different types of wounds and illness and how they take a toll on the body.

One day as they were travelling through the sea their ship was attacked by a crew of Pirates known as the Screaming Harlots. Led by a woman by the pirate named Elvira. As the pirates attacked the ship. Cecil's parents would hurry Cecil into a room full of coffins and quickly hide him one alongside a recently deceased marine. After this Cecil's parents were immediately captured by Elvira and were killed when they tried to fight back. As Cecil laid in the coffin he stayed limp till a crew of marines came through and discovered Cecil in the coffin. Hearing his story Captain Lilith, leader of the specific marine crew decided to send him to organ town. Where he would become choir boy within the marines.

During Cecil's time as a choir boy amongst the Marines Cecil would often find himself cleaning the dungeons where prisoners were left to rot. Well cleaning the chambers Cecil often would collect the dead rodents in front of prisoners giving them an Eerie feeling about the boy. As he brought the dead rodents back to his chamber. Those who would look into Cecil's chambers would notice immediately. That his room was almost like an altar to death itself and an embrace to it. Animal skins, skulls, makeshift coffins, tools and ritualistic items used for funerals could be seen neatly placed around his room.

Due to this it caught the attention of a cipher pol agent by the name Astrid, a dangerous agent who worked with the marines closely. Astrid believed Cecil's apathetic approach and acceptance of death was a perfect fit for cipher pol. So she adopted Cecil and raised him in Organ island. Here she would teach him the basics to being a cipher pol agent. Only a select few amongst the island knew about Cecil's true upbringing, one being the newly promoted Lilith Woods. Who slowly started becoming disgusted by Cecil and hateful of anything that did not fit her view of what marine should be. Though deep down she felt a responsibility to Cecil. So she made an agreement with Astrid who was called away to a mission within the new world. That Lilith would look over Cecil and train him to fight though she would not protect him.

As the years passed Cecil trained under Lilith as she taught him her fighting style. Known as constricting chain style. A fighting style that heavily relied on the use of chains and using them to constrict around her enemies like serpents. Cecil picked up on it and easily decided to develop his own version adding electro with it and his coffin. Creating a very unorthodox fighting style that most would not know how to handle. After this Lilith decided to end her training and leave Cecil his own devices. As her disgust only grew deeper but she also feared what Astrid would do to her if she stepped too far and Cecil would remind her of this on occasion. Creating a strange display of power between the two on surface Cecil appeared submissive and obedient but in reality with a simple name Cecil could send her running in a tantrum away from him.

By the time Cecil turned twenty years of age he was a recruit in the marines usually being forced to do desk work. Cecil would start receiving orders from his mother's boss, a mysterious cipher pol agent who only went by the name Bink. Cecil's orders were to stay put and wait for further orders within the marines. So Cecil did and worked under Lilith for some time till. The marine
