Day In The Life

Make it as vivid as possible. What does he FEEL like as he goes through each part of his day? Add images vision board style. Use the first person and present tense, i.e. “I walk through the streets...”

- My alarm sounds at 4.
- Within 10 seconds I’ve already smashed snooze on the battlehorn and cast a beacon that stretches from the East to the West, as far as the eye can see. (my room’s walls).
- By the 10-minute mark coffee’s done.
- I’m firing on all cylinders.
- So much kinetic energy is produced by a sip of that coffee, that I have to do 10 pullups to not accidentally crush the crap outta the cup in my hand.

- Now I'm ready to demolish the outreach I'm about to do.
- I rush to my keyboard like a galloping stallion, an unassailable steed.
- I rubbish all the garbage filler tabs.
- I pull up my accountability tab and calendar to review my day's plans.
- Get those out of the way in 5 minutes.
- Then I pull up the lead sheet to restart my outreach,
- Meticulous market research coupled with an astute look of an absolute laser.
- As locked as a rabid dog clamping on bone.
- I sift through who I want to help and who I won't bother with.
- Out of nowhere - the laptop screen goes bright.
- The sun's glare now reflects a bright human; a righteous beast in shimmering shades.
- I pause for a bit as I notice how sharp I look... Then I chuckle.
- "I did it, man... I really did it. What a journey."
- I thank God from the deepest depths of my heart for his gift upon me, that I never neglected my hopes & dreams of being the best man I can be for His Majesty's pleasure.
- Then a DM appears.
- It's a £2k/m client happy with their results. They want to go £5k/m now.
- Perfect timing.
- I thank God again.
- And then I'm back to leveling up in the game of life.
