

I fell in love with her
From the other side of the mirror
She taught me to laugh
Out loud and alive
All of her hair fell out
In the bathroom sink
But she didn't mind a thing
Dancing her way of life
Behind a curtain
I remember when
I saw her eyes staring back at me
From the other side of the mirror
And I remember when I shattered it