

Topics I will not partake in:

- Modern Politics.
These works are for relaxation, pervives and generally get away from all of that. Fictional politics and other tribulations in that setting are okay, encouraged even, but nothing that resembles the actual political climate.
- Neopronouns.
From Shi/Hir, It/Its, They/Them to all others. I write in English, but think most things with Spanish in mind, as is my mother tongue, and these are not used here. It makes my work slower, confuses my line of thought and generally adds nothing to the story, thus they will not appear in my works.
- Real Life as a Setting.
Not necessarily a NO, but with anything from orcs, goblins, elves, furries, aliens and so on, I prefer unreal settings. 'Real Life', but in a different timeline/universe with interesting creatures or technologies? Eh, may be interesting enough.

Kinks and fetishes I will *NOT work with. Do read KINKS. Certain things in non sexual settings are okay (Like blood, gore, death).

- Vore, absorption, consumption, disposal and so on .
[If I ever like/fave or work on this, it will be for VERY specific reasons. Consider it a flat no if you are to ask. Clear example of me working on this: Spatium Sperma. If it is not up yet, it will be].
- Piss, scat, vomit, farting and similar 'dirty' fetishes, including any fluid that isn't cum.
- Castration, torture, blood, gore, death/snuff and general violence in a sexual fashion.
[Not rape. That is forcing someone into sex and doesn't necessarily require violence played sexually. I know, weird, but coercing/blackmailing someone into sex is still rape].
- Drugs, smoking and general hallucinogens.
[Having a drink, anything that induces heat/sexual desire or potions and the like is perfectly fine].
- Straight gay.
[I am not good at woman on woman writing, nor does it interest me, and masculine males going at it together throws me off 99.9% of the time. Femboys, bustyboys and so on that look almost like women are a-ok.]
- Cuntboys/Male herms [Similar with the above, it just throws me off].
- Beards, much less in female/herm characters. [Just not my cup of tea. Sorry, fans of canonically female dwarves!]
- Extreme muscular characters or hyper beyond certain measures.
- STDs, sickness and other such things in any sexual way.