Biography:

Dominick Kylan Strife grew up in White Marsh, a suburb of Baltimore, in a middle class home. The youngest of two children, Dominick never got along well in school, in church, or at any place of employment. Tensions within Dominick's family rose as Dom's apparent distaste for conformity clashed hard with his Father's ideals. Things had gotten so bad in the Strife household that it is said that Dominick was kicked out and forced to make due on his own.

Strife joined a local wrestling school, where he struck a deal to help clean and maintain the school as payment for formal training. Dom learned the basic ins and outs of wrestling and worked to earn his independent wrestlers license. Once acquired, Strife took on any and all bookings that he could to make ends meet, practically surviving off of whatever meager checks he could scrounge up. Despite his lack of experience, Dom quickly showed natural athleticism and a flair for the dramatic - things that grabbed the attention of not only the audience but other local-level promoters who are eager to find that next big draw.

Dominick has his eyes always set on a bigger paycheck. Ever the mercenary, he is willing to take great risks for an equally great reward.

Motivation:

Dominick was asked to join Stars of Combat by Jimmy Stars, a manager who handles all of his bookings, appearances, and travel arrangements... for a fee. Dominick is also joined by a valet by the name of Isla Burke, the best friend of his older sister. If Stars or Burke ask something of Dominick, he's going to give his all to provide. Living on his own has given him a revitalized sense of responsibility. He does not ever want to let the people who depend on him down.

OTHER INFORMATION

Important Details:

Dominick is a southpaw. (Left-Handed) He has amazing stamina. Will not even begin to sweat until 5-10 minutes into a match.

Strengths:

Athletically gifted. Has amazing stamina. Good physical strength despite an average build. Generally fearless in the aerial assault game.

Weaknesses:

Untrained. Flighty. Distractible. Has been difficult to find him the right training coach and regimen to really get him going. Has not figured out what he needs to do to win consistently... yet.

Entrance Theme Music:

Shoot to Thrill by AC/DC

Ring Entrance:

The opening riff of AC/DC's "Shoot to Thrill" blares suddenly over the public announce speakers. The drums come crashing in, along with the rest of the instrumental section. Soon after, Dominick Strife steps out onto the stage, followed closely by his valet Isla Burke.

The two walk down the ramp and up the nearside ring steps. Dominick holds the ropes for Isla to step into the ring and he follows after. The two of them look out to the crowd before striking a pose. After a few last minute words of advice, Isla wishes him luck and steps out of the ring. Dom starts warming up in his corner.

FIGHTING STYLE/MANEUVER LISTS

In-Ring Style:

Dom is pretty well-rounded. Nothing too exotic, yet. He's going to adapt to the situation. For larger opponents, he'll lean into the high flying. For equal sized and/or smaller opponents, he'll bust out some slams.

Standard Moves:

To Standing Opponents

1. Knife Edge Chop
2. Toe Kick
3. Forearm Shiver
4. Dropkick
5. Hip Toss/Arm Drag
6. Snap Mare
7. Northern Lights (with bridge)
8. Back Body Drop
9. Enzugiri/Gamengiri
10. (Backflip) Pele Kick

To Grounded/Cornered Opponents

1. Backflip Splash
2. Hammer-drop Elbow
3. Mounted Punches
4. Diving Leg Drop

Special Moves:

Trademark Move

> Mark 69

Description: Step up knee to the face to a cornered opponent, followed by a running bulldog.

> For Those About to Rock

Description: Booker T style Scissor Kick to the back of the head.

Finishing Moves

> Shoot to Thrill

Description: Sweet Chin Music Superkick

Favorite Hardcore Attack

> Play to Kill

Description: Tosses his opponent a chair, and superkicks said chair into their face region.

Additional Notes (What are some things that they would ALWAYS do? Or would NEVER do?):

I'd really like Dom to start out like a kid that's a bit over his head, but one who tries his damdest. His valet (Isla Burke) will never actively get involved in a match, but she will always be there at ringside to cheer him on - especially in the big moments when he's got to shake off the cobwebs and fight to get back to his feet. Her motivation will always push him on.
