ACCESSING IR-82293...

Bennett was exposed to an information leak at the University of Tennessee. 2 4 mobile phones were discovered by field agents which could project cognitohazards. When a subject used the phone and attempted to access the calendar application, they would believe they were a variable number of years or days in the future or past. Subjects exposed to the cognitohazard would express knowledge of the future, however all predictions have been proven false. Agents dismantled the phones and found small stamps on the CPUs, only readable by electron microscope, that read "ALEXYLVA UNIVERSITY ELECTRONICS DEPARTMENT".

Bennett was found in possession of one of the affected phones and cooperated with Foundation field agents in locating other instances.
