Qwik Community Values

1. All questions are good questions.
    In our community, there is no such thing as a "noob question". We want people to feel comfortable asking any question that comes to mind about anything unclear about Qwik. Our community members are patient, helpful and welcoming towards newcomers to make everyone feel at home.

2. Be respectful and inclusive
    Developers in our community come from different cultures and backgrounds and have different styles of communication.
    One thing to keep in mind - text has no tone, so sometimes people might interpret your words differently, that's why we encourage you to be mindful of how you phrase your replies. We like to keep things technical and not cross personal boundaries.
    It's OK not to agree with others, we encourage thoughtful debates about topics like developer experience and other framework related topics, as long as they are being done in a respectful way. Always think: "How would I like to be treated?" and treat others the same way.

3. Support and encourage each other
    We like to praise members in our community for their efforts. If you see anyone sharing a Qwik related project, blog post, video, or any "win"… give them a 👏 or 🚀 or any other emoji or kind words that will brighten their day.
    If you see someone struggling, give them words of encouragement and if possible, help them out. Remember - teaching is the best way to learn, plus, it's good karma ;)

4. Follow the boy/girl scout rule:
    "Always leave the place better than you found it."
    If you see anything that could be better - please open up a PR or an issue or reach out to us. For example: think something in the docs doesn't make sense? don't close the page, edit it with a better explanation.

5. Respect other frameworks / solutions
    We are all in this JavaScript game together. Without the other frameworks / solutions we couldn't be where we are and we are constantly taking inspiration from seeing how other smart frameworks approach the same problems we're dealing with.
    As JavaScript developers we'd like everyone to choose their favorite stack without feeling criticized for their choices.
    Qwik is embracing the entire JS ecosystem and welcomes collaboration with all other frameworks and libraries, that's why we encourage our community members to do the same.

6. Keep it fun
    We like to keep things light and fun, so you might see silly emojis, contests, commit messages etc. Feel free to join the silliness :)
