SL:How to actually become a Pro Gamer!

If you could look at yourself playing a video game, what would you think of yourself?

Are you a guy who can be the best and earn millions while other crawl at your feet?

Someone that others look up to and try to copy every little detail to become like you?

Or do you see a stinking guy who does nothing but play video games all day, and is still bad at them?

but here comes the best part,

you didn't achieve anything else in your pathetic life and your only escape are video games in which you still suck?

If you are ready now to actually leave your miserable life behind and start your journey to becoming a true pro gamer,
