

I do not claim that these are the correct Earth ways to pronounce any of these names, as I am borrowing heavily from languages that I have low familiarity with, but these are how I pronounce them in my head. This is only intended as a general guideline for those who like to know how the author intends various names and words to be pronounced; if you are comfortable with your own internal pronunciations, by all means just ignore my version. My own pronunciations are hardly completely internally consistent so I can't blame you at all.

It goes without saying that there are minor spoilers in this guide, but I will only be listing names with no context whatsoever, so the spoilers are very minor. I won't even be sorting the names by people/place/origin/etc, they're just listed alphabetically.
