

Subject Line: How you can make more money with HIGH QUALITY trades!

Hey (Name),

It doesn't matter if you take 20 trades or 10 trades.

Are these 10-20 trades going to be quality trades?

I can almost guess that the answer is a no.

Take this for example, you take 100 trades a week but have to rush through every one of them because you want to hit your goal of 100 trades a week.

BUT

While rushing through them you are losing money because you're focused on hitting that goal of 100 trades.

SO

Instead do 10 trades a week and only do high quality trades, go in with a plan and a good strategy.

It's almost guaranteed that you will make more money doing 10 high quality trades then 100 bad trades.

Sometimes It's better to take less trades.

Because those quantity trades will probably drain you mentally or financially...

So it's best to wait for those high quality setups and go in with a good strategy and go from there.

I know a lot of good traders that make more money doing high quality trades instead of doing 10 to 20 trades a day.

So go for Quality over Quantity!

That's it for now.

Until next time,

Christian

