Summary For the A Cinderella Story

A Cinderella story is a film set in the campus. Just as the old Cinderella story, the film has the several elements every Cinderella story shares. Sam Montgomery is young and beautiful, but just like the modern Cinderella, she is maltreated by her stepmother Fiona, and she has to live with her stepsisters, of course the villains. To run her father's restaurant, she has to work very hard while the stepmother and her daughters squander her father's money. Poor Sam puts her energy into the network, and she chats with her intimate friend by her mobile phone, the object or glass slipper for prince to find his Cinderella. She meets her true love, Austin Ames, the handsome school prince-the unattainable potential mate. But the network becomes their masks, they don't know each other. At the Halloween Eve masquerade, by the help of her god mother Shelby, Sam dresses up and goes to the party. She is surprised to find that the intimate friend should be the school prince. Sam feels self-contemptuous because she looks like a ugly duckling. Because of the curfew, Sam has to leave the party. Of course, she leaves her glass slipper- the mobile phone. But, with the mobile phone, Austin finally finds her Cinderella. There still exists differences between the film and the story. The prince is not so perfect, he is weak as he doesn't dare to obey his father. However, finally they both choose to be real themselves. Sam faced her reality, and Austin realizes what's his dream. They become a lovely couple, and the stepmother gets the bad results as she deserves, a common happy ending for the hero and heroine.
