Rights of Authors

- Along with other users, authors may use their article in any way permitted by the CC BY-NC-SA license.
- The right, subsequent to publication, to use the article or any part thereof free of charge in a printed compilation of works of their own, such as collected writings or lecture notes.

Note: All copies, paper, electronic or other use, of the information must include an indication of the IJFR copyright and a full citation of the journal source.

Authorship

- If the article was prepared jointly with other author(s), the signing author has informed the co-author(s) of the terms of this copyright transfer and sign on their behalf. The signing author shall bear the responsibility for designating the co-author(s) and must inform the IJFR of any changes in authorship.

Author Warranties

- The article submitted to the IJFR for review is original, has been written by the stated author(s) and has not been published elsewhere including proceeding of seminar or conference.
- The article is not currently being considered for publication by any other journal and proceeding and will not be submitted for such review while under review by IJFR.
- The article contains no libelous or other unlawful statements, and does not infringe on the rights of others.
- If excerpts from copyrighted works are included, the author(s) has (have) obtained or will obtain written permission from the copyright owners and will credit the source in the article.

Preprints

- The author(s) must agree that if a prior version of this work (normally a preprint) has been posted to an electronic public server, they will not update and/or replace the prior version in order to make it identical in content to the final published version.

Please return the completed and signed original of this for by mail or fax, or a scanned copy of the signed original by email, retaining a copy for your files, to:
