

Intelini is an IT company with impeccable experience in software development. Our company provides a wide range of IT outsourcing services.

Our specialists have many years of experience. That helps them in qualified custom software development. By understanding the business processes of various companies, we meet the customers' needs and help them achieve their goals. We have extensive expertise in complex software development for various areas.

SERVICES

Intelini employees are specialists with a strong and up-to-date background of knowledge and skills and experience in software development for various industries.

We help companies reduce software development costs and speed up time-to-market for their products.

What services do we provide?

- Web Application Development
- Desktop software development
- Development of mobile applications
- DevOps Services
- Quality Assurance (QA)

OUR SOLUTIONS

We offer modern solutions for your business.

Web development. We create customized web applications that meet your business requirements. We design websites starting from small and very simple landing pages to complex and highly loaded e-commerce sites and information portals.

Mobile development. We offer a complete set of services related to mobile software development for devices based on Android and iOS. We create a useful and convenient app for your business needs.

Cloud applications. The future is near, and we offer a win-win way to optimize your business. We develop software for work purposes and carry out thorough research on software solutions.

OUR ADVANTAGES

The team of specialists provides a wide range of IT services. We can create a web or mobile solution, with the transformation according to your company's needs. We do our job properly within deadlines.

Here are 6 reasons to choose Intelini:

Technical expertise

The Intelini team are seasoned technicians who “squeeze the juice” out of digital technology and are fully committed to their work. We follow industry trends and are constantly improving our services.

Complex solutions

We offer a better solution based on a thorough analysis of the clients' business goals. First, we understand the main idea of the product and only then write the code.

Individual approach

Our priority is to satisfy customers' requirements. Therefore, we strive to exceed early expectations.

Flexible cooperation

We adapt our processes to the project needs. We offer our clients a convenient model of cooperation with their financial capabilities.

Fair price

We have the best value for money. Our company offers favorable conditions to increase the project profitability.

Transparent terms

A relationship of trust is the foundation of our company's success. Our clients can track all the stages of software creation.

OUR PRODUCTS

Intelini specialists develop software for customers around the world. Our knowledge has helped us develop modern smart solutions, including applications for end-users, professional tools, software solutions for business, and development toolkits. Products that meet the highest professional requirements represent our portfolio.

<https://text.ru/antiplagiat/61b9ded08174a>