We all know the importance of determining “Estimated Seasonal High Groundwater” elevations. But have you ever wondered how stable the groundwater table is? Dr. David Boutt of UMass-Amherst has spent years studying and modeling groundwater in Massachusetts and has come to some startling conclusions. Join us for an enlightening presentation. As always, there will be time at the end of the presentation for questions and further discussion.

Tuesday, May 6th: 12-1:30pm. Changing Groundwater Elevations in Massachusetts. We all know the importance of determining “Estimated Seasonal High Groundwater” elevations. But have you ever wondered how stable the groundwater table is? Dr. David Boutt of UMass-Amherst has spent years studying and modeling groundwater in Massachusetts and has come to some startling conclusions. Join us for an enlightening presentation. As always, there will be time at the end of the presentation for questions and further discussion. For more information and to register, click HERE.
