This painting is created in famous Ukrainian style of Petrykivka.

Petrykivka style decorative painting is a phenomenon of Ukrainian ornamental folk art, and dates back to the 19th century. The distinctive characteristic of Petrykivka is a prevalence of floral patterns like flowers, leaves, viburnum berries, sunflowers, and magical birds, all painted in bold vibrant colors. Using transitional strokes, and hand-made cat brush for creating Petrykivka are key components that set aside this style from any other folk art known in the world.

Petrykivka is included in the UNESCO Representative List of the Cultural Heritage of Humanity.

This bouquet of flowers is a tribute to Ukrainian culture that blooms and thrives even in a harsh and inhumane conditions of war. Under shelling, and fire gentle flowers may slightly bend but they do continue to blossom and bring joy to the hearts, they do stay true to their roots, and colors.
