I agree with Rob. Passmark.com has the only performance-comparison ranking system that I know of among the various AMD and Intel CPUs, and I refer my students (I teach intro PC classes at my local library) to it when discussing how to approach PC shopping activity. It lists over 3600 CPUs in order of overall performance.

Glad to hear that they are still supporting 32-bit. Thought they'd dropped it around ver. 18. Also, good to learn about the AMD concerns and that updates are available at the AMD web site.
