Pronouns: She/her

Gender: Genderqueer but doesn't know it yet sigh

Sexuality: Lesbian in denial sigh

Origin: Sunshine lands

Design

Dark red, almost red hair, like black cherry cola. Cut in a long wolf cut with choppy bangs, usually left down or styled in two pigtails. Down turned and wide olive green eyes in a constant state of shock, like a bug. Purplish eyebags and faint purple eyelids with thick eyebrows. Tanned skin with splatterings of freckles in random spots, permanent tan lines around her wrist and fingers from rings/bracelets. Sunburns easily and never wears sunscreen, so she's often red. High nose bridge and hooked. CHUBBY CHEEKS!!!! Mouth is downturned in a permanent pout, thin upper lip with a jutted out bottom lip. Slightly yellowed teeth with soft back canines and a few fake teeth. Slight hourglass figure, slightly bigger chest than waist below. Used to be quite thin but is regaining weight now that she's a pirate. Toned arms, stronger upper half but still quite strong legs. Dominant left hand.

Loose white long sleeved unbuttoned button down shirt tucked into a light brown outer skirt corset adorned with a broach. Gold belt and sword holder with tiny chains and trinkets. Mid calf length flowy cream skirt, the left side lifted up to mid thigh with a gold skirt lifter. Lace up brown boots stopping at the knee. Big red coat with gold lining worn off the shoulder like a cape. Light green accessories scattered around. Gold charm bracelet matching with Esme. Gold chain necklace with key charm. Green jewel pearl choker. Lots of vintage gold rings she stole as well and a few homemade ones. Gold key earrings with other random gold piercings. Light red pirate hat with a few black feathers with gold embellishments.

Lore

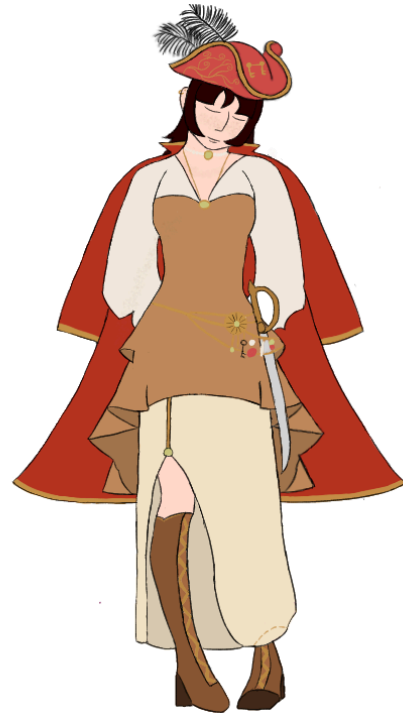

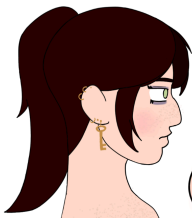

if i had to describe jacqueline, itd be someone conflicted between two extremes. the "i want it all" mindset vs "i dont deserve anything" mindset. on one hand she yearns for all the things she doesnt have and actively works towards obtaining it, leading her to question why she never had it in the first place, very why not me? but on the other hand she has it drilled into her that she is not worthy of things she desires so dearly, that it shouldnt be her it cant be her, leading to her self sabotaging everything she tries to achieve her character is made up of two sides that clash so heavily with each other it leads to her floundering in place and making everything worse, which starts an infinite cycle of depression to envy to rage which just continues until shes stopped.

Grew up in an orphanage just barely scraping by while being ostracized from her peers due to her cut throat attitude and ambition, living with the bare necessities to survive let alone enjoy life. Became extremely jealous of the ones around her who lived more well off (in basically anything, money, friendships etc) Instead of letting her envy fester and turn into hatred (which she still does hold some minor resentment for people, but shes mainly let that go) she turns into drive to be better. Works hard by studying in the library every day, soaking up any knowledge she can find until one day a group of pirates visits her small town. She's working an odd job (around 10 or so) at the bar when she overhears one of the pirates talking about how much they've seen and explored. This inspires her, seeing people live so happily and freely, learning everything that there is to know, she makes it her life's mission to learn and tell every story out there. When she's 12 years old, she runs away to find the group of pirates that visited before (NO QUEEN DONT DO IT YOU'LL GET KIDNAPPED DIVA). Eventually she finds them in a run down tavern so like any logical person she decides to sneak onto their ship and attack them but gets her ass beat. They let her join ig and then she stays with them as their cabin girl n log keeper. Also during one of her adventures with the crew she meets this fae named pan and he tries to feed her to a croc so now she has a life long grudge against him. One day she "steals" (the crew lets her its enrichment) the ship with esme (another cabin girl whos shes in notyuri with) to go find n kill pan which is when she runs into nrc school bus and kidnaps them.
