

DN1013 Narrative 1

Yi-Ta Tsai

Brief

The Internet is a part of our life, we can do most things on the internet. It is a glorious fantasy place for us to be ourselves in there. However, as we more and more use the internet, the algorithm knows more about us. Our lives are directly exposed to the internet, and if we don't use it properly, it will affect our real life.

Content

Cyberlife

- Main idea
 - To show our life is rely on internet a lot, and we are blinded by the beauty and convenience of the internet and seldom notice the hidden worries and privacy issue brought by the internet
- Darken the surrounding

- To make people mainly focus on the center keyboard and the bright red roses and will less notice about the issue that internet bring from

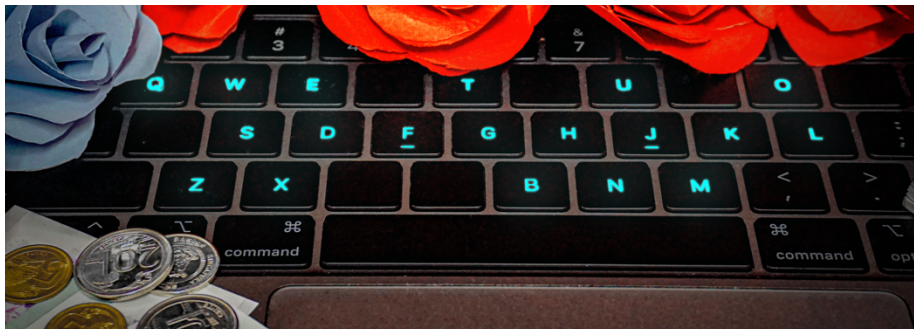

Flowers

- Choose to use Rose to represent the internet is a double-edged sword
 - To show how beautiful the internet makes our life more convenient, but also the thorn of the rose may hurt us if we overuse the internet
- The flower next to the items use different color
 - Each color has different meaning to show if we do not use the internet properly, the color will be polluted
 - Blue: sexual desire
 - Purple: stress
 - Dark red: violent
 - Green: greedy
- General color is charming to represent the glories of the internet

Items

- Those are the stuff to represent what people will use internet to do
 - Tissue: watching pornography video
 - Paper and pencil case: study or working
 - Utility knife: cyberbully
 - Money: shopping

Keyboard

- Remove the letters “P R I V A C Y”
 - To show even we do our own thing through internet, there is no more privacy to protect us, the algorithm will know what we are doing
- Glow
 - To make the viewer can more focus on the keyboard
 - Color use blue is also because to make people focus on it
 - Try different color, but the blue will better for me

Jordi Koalitic (Jordi Puig)

Barcelona photographer

He is famous of his own style and way of understanding photography

I didn't get inspiration from the way how he photographed; I got inspiring by his picture quality. His photo has an advanced sense for me and like to darken the surrounding.
