

Sidequests!

Sidequests are simple. I want to give you points for playing and exploring.

I want you to play games, or read something about games, or watch something about games, and respond to these things on your blogs in six separate well developed posts.

Perhaps, play games that are mentioned in class. Can I suggest the appropriately related (and interestingly humorous) game called Sidequest?

Or, go exploring for books or articles that might convey something interesting about gaming.

The posts can be just longer informal paragraphs, but try to get them to be approximately 250 words.

Save one of these entries for In Real Life, the graphic novel that we'll be discussing later in the semester.

Enjoy! Explore. Share.

Please label your posts accordingly: Sidequest 1: Lifeline, Sidequest 2: Mancala

5 points each, for a total of 30 sidequest points!

Flexible due dates are on the syllabus. I'll try to remind you.

