

When your youth has faded

by Skipperdoodle Productions

What will you do when your youth has faded?

A youth you never appreciated until it was gone.

When you realize your physical attractiveness was tied to the hue of youth?

A hue since gone.

Did you cultivate the things that transcend time?

Character, trustworthiness, morality, and the like.

Or have you simply ended an ugly, hollow husk?