Monsieur/Madame le/la responsable des ressources humaines,

I am writing with great interest to apply for the Full-Stack Developer position, following your advertisement on LinkedIn. Having followed the growth and innovative projects of "Innovation Tech" with admiration, I am convinced that your company culture, focused on technical excellence and collaboration, perfectly aligns with my professional aspirations.

With four years of experience at "Web Solutions," I have had the opportunity to design, develop, and deploy complex web applications from start to finish. Notably, I led a project to redesign an e-commerce platform, which resulted in a 40% reduction in page load times and a 15% increase in the conversion rate. My proficiency in front-end (React, Vue.js) and back-end (Node.js, Django) technologies, as well as my expertise in database management (PostgreSQL, MongoDB) and deployment (Docker, AWS), are assets I wish to contribute to your team. I am particularly drawn to the technical challenges this position offers and am confident I can actively contribute to the success of your future projects.

Veuillez agréer, Madame/Monsieur, nos salutations distinguées.
