SSI (Supplemental Security Income)

If you make little to no money and have few assets, this program will give you extra money each month if you are 65 years old or older, blind, or have a disability.

Federal SSI Maximum Payment

|            | Income/month | Asset   |
|------------|--------------|---------|
| Individual | $943        | $2,000 |
| Couple     | $1,415      | $3,000 |

The maximum payment in the state of Washington is almost the same as the federal amount.

Even if you believe you earn slightly above the SSI limit, you may consider applying for the program. SSI uses its own method to calculate income, so you may still qualify and receive even a modest amount of assistance. It is worth trying to apply for the program because you may automatically receive Medicaid and Medicare Part D Extra Help assistance if you are eligible for SSI.

Medicaid for Seniors

If you are enrolled in the SSI program, you can also get Washington Medicaid for seniors, also so called Classic Medicaid. The income and assets limits for Senior Medicaid in Washington are the same as the federal SSI limits.

Medicare beneficiaries who meet both income and asset qualifications and are dually eligible for both Medicare and Medicaid may receive full-scope Medicaid benefits, covering premiums and copays, and additional benefits not provided by Medicare such as long-term care services, dental, and hearing.

As a reference, Washington accepts expanded Medicaid, allowing coverage for those who are under 65 and earn up to 138% of the federal poverty, which is $1,731 per month for an individual and $2,350 per month for a two-person household.

Medicare Savings Programs (MSPs)

These programs assist Medicare beneficiaries with Medicaid benefits by providing help from the state of Washington to pay Medicare premiums, and sometimes deductibles and copayments.

There are three kinds of MSPs based on an individual's income level, and each type provides a different level of coverage. The state eliminated the asset test, allowing more seniors to qualify for the program based solely on their income.

3 types of MSP & Income/Asset limits

|        |            | QMB     | SLMB    | QI      |
|--------|------------|---------|---------|---------|
| Income | Individual | $1,401 | $1,526 | $1,751 |
|        | Couple     | $1,893 | $2,064 | $2,370 |
| Asset  |            | No test |         |         |

Note that MSPs basically provide financial assistance and do not offer additional coverage.

* $2,750 for most households. $4,250 for any household that includes at least one member who is at least age 60 or disabled.

Extra Help for Medicare Part D

If you receive WA Classic Medicaid or MSPs, you will automatically get Extra Help, the federal program that helps with Part D prescription drugs costs.

If you don't automatically get this program, you can still apply for it if you have an income of less than 150% of the federal poverty level and meet the asset limit.

Income & Asset limits for Extra Help

|            | Income/month | Asset    |
|------------|--------------|----------|
| Individual | $1,882      | $17,220 |
| Couple     | $2,555      | $34,360 |

Even if you don't qualify for Extra Help now, you can reapply for Extra Help any time if your income and resources change.

SNAP (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Programs)

SNAP is the largest Federal nutrition assistance program. This program gives you a special debit card to help you buy food if you have limited income and few assets. There are three eligibility tests for SNAP. In most cases, your household must meet both the gross and net income limits, which are updated annually.

The household's gross income must not exceed 130% of the federal poverty level, and their net income must not exceed 100%. If the household has a member who is 60 or older or has a disability, they don't need to meet the gross income test and have a different asset limit of $4250. These criteria will apply to SNAP for the fiscal year starting on October 1, 2024.

Standard Federal SNAP Eligibility Requirements

| Household | Gross   | Net     | Asset              |
|-----------|---------|---------|--------------------|
| 1 person  | $1,632 | $1,255 | $2,750 or $4,250 |
| 2 persons | $2,215 | $1,704 | per household*     |

Washington has expanded the gross income limit to 200% beyond the standard federal SNAP eligibility requirements.

Gross & Net Income/Asset Limits for SNAP in WA

| Household | Gross   | Net     | Asset            |
|-----------|---------|---------|------------------|
| 1 person  | $2,510 | $1,255 | $2,750 or 4,250 |
| 2 persons | $3,407 | $1,704 | per household*   |

Although SNAP is administered at the federal level, you must apply in the state where you currently live and meet the state's requirements. States operate the program at the local level, determining eligibility and issuing benefits to eligible households.

You can figure out if you are eligible for SNAP, Classic Medicaid, and/or cash assistance at WashingtonConnection website.

LIHEAP (Low-Income Home Energy Assistance Programs)

LIHEAP (Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program) is a federally funded program that helps low-income households to meet their immediate home energy needs. This program provides your household with an annual cash grant to help you pay for your home heating and cooling costs. The grants are paid either directly to you or to your energy company.

To be eligible, a household must have an income that does not exceed the greater of 150% of the federal poverty guideline ($2,555 per month for a two-person household) or 60% of the state median income level in Washington ($53,469 per year for two-person household).

Applications for heating assistance are accepted from October 1 to August 30 of the following year. However, cooling assistance is not available.
