Lacy comes from a huge family, with many older and younger siblings, Lacy herself being the seventh child. Lacy's family has never rejected her, but she has always wanted to prove herself to them beyond her simple potions and brews. The family itself is one that works with potions and magics, with many of the older children joining Ishens schools. Lacy finds herself interested in all aspects of the world, and she wants to write many books about it, but she has discovered a personal ability to work machines like nothing else she has experienced before. Lacy's goal is to turn the oceans that have dominated the land into a haven for life once more with intricate and sprawling machines, while also writing down all the information she can get her hands on.

Due to Lacy's large family she is very hyper when around others.
