

Requirements to prove for new HAs

The idea would be to propose that each candidate be able to prove these basic elements in his or her application.

Demonstrated Leadership Experience: Candidates must have previously held leadership positions within the Polkadot community or similar blockchain ecosystems, projects, demonstrating their ability to lead and manage teams effectively.

Technical Proficiency: Understanding basics of Polkadot's architecture, governance model, and interoperability features.

Expertise in a specific domain relevant to Polkadot's growth: This could include areas such as DeFi, NFTs, Web3 development, or interoperability solutions. Deep knowledge in a specific domain would enable Head Ambassadors to provide specialized guidance and support to the community.

Significant Community Contributions: A track record of significant contributions such as creating educational content, organizing major community events, or contributing code to the Polkadot repository.

Strategic Vision: Ability to articulate a clear vision for the growth of the Polkadot ecosystem and propose innovative strategies that align with Polkadot's long-term goals.

Global Outreach: Experience in fostering a diverse and inclusive environment within the blockchain community, and ability to engage with a global audience, possibly including multilingual capabilities.

Proven track record of building partnerships and collaborations: Head Ambassadors should demonstrate the ability to forge strategic alliances with other blockchain projects, industry leaders, and organizations to expand Polkadot's reach and impact.

Entrepreneurial Mindset: Candidate must demonstrate ability to identify and pursue opportunities for growth and expansion within the Polkadot ecosystem and experience in building and managing successful projects or businesses related to blockchain technology.

Ethical Integrity and Transparency: Commitment to high ethical standards and transparency, particularly in promoting the decentralized spirit of the blockchain community.

Ability to fulfill the responsibilities of a paid position: As Head Ambassadors will be compensated, candidates must demonstrate their capacity to commit the necessary time and effort to perform their duties effectively.

Polkadot on chain Identity: As Head Ambassadors, having a verified identity on the Polkadot chain and maintaining a reserve of 100 DOTS to be able to take part in governance activities.
