Image Description: What's on your Fake News Classification Checklist? Be sure to be a collector of facts.

Newspaper article with the following content: Starting March 2023, the standard workweek will be reduced from 5 days to 3 days. The new schedule consists of three 10-hour workdays, with the remaining four days dedicated to rest and personal pursuits. The government believes this change will improve work-life balance and increase productivity. Businesses have the option to implement the change, with some industries potentially being excluded. The new schedule has received mixed reactions, but the government is committed to supporting employers during the transition process.