

The World's Top 10 Beers - Slooijer Scale

This is the official tasting scale used by Bob & Doug on World's Top 10 Beers podcast.

The scale was invented by the Dutch Monk Bertrand Slooijer in the 1380's. He invented the scale so he could determine to evaluate the beer in production so it was served to the appropriate social class. The peasants received the bad stuff, the royalty deserved magic.

Through painstaking work, Bob & Doug have translated the scale into modern slang that is easy to understand and remember.

Next time you try a new beer, ask yourself, "Does this beer totally suck?" if not, move up the scale to the next question. Like magic, each beer will find its own level.

If you find a beer that makes "It Might Be Magic" let Bob & Doug know on twitter @sendusbeers - cheers!

TOTALLY SUCKS

SUCKS

I DON'T HATE THIS

MEH - IT'S FINE

I COULD LIKE THIS

I LIKE THIS

THAT'S INTERESTING

THIS MIGHT BE MAGIC

MAGIC!
