The Daily Warden is the only daily website and newsletter specialized in displaying upcoming, running and ended security contests

Choosing which contest to participate in is critical for Security Researchers
Additionally, tracking ended contests is tedious and can cause losses due to missing the opportunity to re-discuss findings

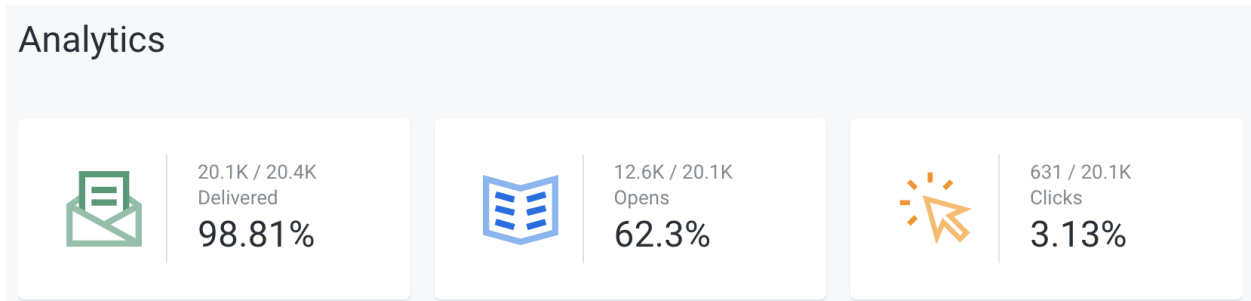

Because of this, the DailyWarden is an advantage to professional Security Researchers and the majority of top SRs uses it daily

Use Cases

- Promote your contest
- Promote the workshop for your contest
- Promote your hackathon
- Promote your private Bug Bounty
- Promote your Public Bug Bounty
- Promote you pre and post launch Bug Bounty or Security Contest
- Promote a Job Opening for your Organization (to highly talented SRs)

The Daily Warden Stats

The Daily Warden is blasted every day to a growing number of subscribers
1.3k at the time of writing (Check live site for live stats)
These are double opt-in subscribers, the number already excludes subscribers that didn't verify their email

The Open Rate is above 62%, the email is read by the most competitive Solo Researchers in the space

We respect people's privacy and as such do not track visits to the site. We estimate the visits to be as high if not higher than the number of subscribers.

With an Ad Spot you get to be at the front of their attention
