C&H Photo has been a staple in the La Jolla community since 2005, catering to camera enthusiasts and professionals alike. With its wide range of photography classes and workshops, as well as a team of experienced staff members, C&H Photo has become a go-to destination for all things photography. In this article, we will delve deeper into the story behind C&H Photo's success and how it has become a favorite among locals and tourists alike.

Learn from the Experts

One of the key factors that sets C&H Photo apart from other camera stores is its team of experts, led by owner Leon Chow and co-owner David Hinkel. Both Chow and Hinkel have extensive experience in the field of photography, making them the perfect mentors for aspiring photographers.

Experience in Photography

Leon Chow, the man behind C&H Photo, has been passionate about photography since he was a teenager. He started his career as a freelance photographer, capturing stunning images of landscapes and wildlife. As his love for photography grew, he decided to open his own camera store in La Jolla, with the goal of sharing his knowledge and expertise with others.

David Hinkel, on the other hand, has been a professional photographer for over 20 years. He specializes in portrait and wedding photography, and his work has been featured in various publications and galleries. With his vast experience in the industry, Hinkel brings a unique perspective to C&H Photo and its customers.

Photography Classes and Workshops

C&H Photo offers a wide variety of classes and workshops for all skill levels, from beginners to professionals. These classes cover a range of topics such as camera basics, composition, lighting techniques, and post-processing. The workshops, on the other hand, focus on specific aspects of photography, such as landscape, portrait, and wildlife photography.

The classes and workshops at C&H Photo are taught by experienced photographers, including Chow and Hinkel themselves. This not only provides students with valuable insights and tips but also allows them to learn from real-world experiences and techniques.

Turning Camera Owners into Photographers

One of the main goals of C&H Photo is to make better photographers out of regular people with everyday cameras. With their classes, workshops, and experienced staff, they have been successful in achieving this goal.

Personalized Service

At C&H Photo, customers are not just another sale, but individuals who are passionate about photography. The staff members take the time to understand each customer's needs and provide personalized recommendations based on their skill level and interests.

Whether you are a beginner looking for your first camera or a professional in need of specialized equipment, C&H Photo has got you covered. Their wide range of products includes cameras, lenses, tripods, lighting equipment, and more, from top brands such as Canon, Nikon, Sony, and Fujifilm.

Community Involvement

C&H Photo is not just a store, but a community hub for photographers in La Jolla. The store hosts various events throughout the year, including photo walks, meetups, and exhibitions. These events allow photographers to connect with like-minded individuals, share their work, and learn from one another.

Moreover, some of C&H's staff members are also part of the San Diego Underwater Photography Society. They travel abroad to capture stunning images underwater and bring back their experiences and knowledge to share with the community.
