

Brag Diary – CodeYourFuture

Brag Entries

Timeframe	Challenge	Achievement
Week 1	Starting the course was overwhelming. Git and GitHub were completely new to me, and I struggled to understand commits, push/pull, and branches.	I practiced every day, followed tutorials, and asked for help. By the end of the week, I was confidently managing my code with Git.
Week 4 to present	Understanding JavaScript fundamentals like loops and functions was challenging.	I completed all exercises and even modified several projects with my own features.
Week 8	Working in a pair was awkward at first; I wasn't used to collaborating on code.	I learned how to communicate ideas, listen, and share control. We completed a mini-project together successfully.
Ongoing	Balancing course work with personal life was tough.	I created a consistent schedule using Google Calander and now manage my tasks better. I feel more organized and in control.
