Response to Literature Essay - A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens

Theme: Society's Evils Are Largely the Work of Humans

Most people would agree that society's evils are largely the work of humans. In the novel _____ by _____ _____, (complete a one-sentence summary of the novel) _____.

Two examples of society's evils being largely the work of humans in this novel are _____ and _____ _____.

To begin with (state your first example from above paragraph) _____ _____

For example, this is seen when (give some context for your quotation) _____ _____ _____.

The novel states, (quotation) "_____ _____ _____" ( ).

This factor shows humans being the cause of society's evils because (explain how the quotation supports the example) _____ _____ _____.

The second example from this novel supporting society's evils being the work of humans is (rename your third example) _____

_____.

This is seen when (give context for the upcoming quotation) _____

_____.

The novel states, (quotation) "_____

_____"( ).

This factor shows society's evils are largely the work of humans because (explain how the quotation supports the example) _____

_____.

Additionally it shows, (give one more commentary sentence on how the quotation supports the example) _____

_____.

In the novel, A Christmas Carol, by Charles Dickens (restate thesis using different words than the original in intro paragraph - use as many sentences as necessary to give a solid conclusion to your essay) _____

_____.

_____

_____.

_____