Skyrocketing The flower shoppe's Online Presence

Hi there!

I'm a nearby resident of Connersville, a student studying marketing and I'm starting on my first project. After going through your website and facebook, I know I can get some more attention to your local family owned floral shop.

After seeing the website, making it secure and adding some testimonials both help with customer security. The Facebook profile could also use some organic ads, targeting around a 30-50 mile radius of your location to attract more attention to the store.

If you want to test out the ideas I presented, that would be great. An email back or a scheduled call would be perfect.

We win when you win. If I can't beat the previous statistics you have, then I won't expect a paycheck.
