Song of Family

My song of family reflects on persistence and the ability to overcome challenges as a group unified as one. When knocked down, the importance of getting up represents my family and its struggles. The Liff family has gotten knocked down many times, the fact that we always bounce back better and more prepared shows something about my family's character. My dad fell down to cancer twice, my sister scoliosis, my mom many torn tendons and ligaments, and I have watched it all play out. None of those very unfortunate events affected us in the aftermath due to our positive and optimistic lifestyle.

My song of family is "Started from the Bottom" by Drake. This song emphasizes on how one can always make it to the top no matter what life has in stock. As I am the youngest, I know that one day the torch will get passed to me to suffer for my family. On that given day, my family and I will prepare to act as a unit to show strength.
