Environmental Conservation

Environmental conservation has never been more urgent (a) khẩn cấp. With over 1 million species at risk of extinction due to human activities, protecting our planet is essential. Conservation not only preserves biodiversity but also maintains vital ecosystem services like clean air, water, and fertile soil, (22) _____.

A key benefit of conservation is safeguarding biodiversity. Diverse ecosystems are more resilient (a) kiên cường, better able to withstand (v) chịu đựng natural disasters (n) thiên tai, and provide resources such as medicine, food, and industrial materials. By protecting natural habitats, we ensure these resources remain available for future generations. Conservation also plays a crucial role in fighting climate change. Forests, wetlands, and oceans act as carbon sinks, which absorb CO₂, regulate global temperatures, and whose effectiveness (23) _____.

Economically, conservation can boost local economies through eco-tourism and sustainable resource management. In addition, due to the amount of pollution that modern devices release into the air, (24) _____. Individuals can contribute by reducing waste, recycling, and using energy-efficient appliances. Supporting conservation organizations and advocating for (v) ủng hộ environmental policies are also impactful. (25) _____.

In conclusion, conservation is a shared responsibility. (26) _____. When individuals, communities, and governments work together, we can protect natural resources, reduce pollution, and preserve biodiversity. Small daily actions, such as recycling, conserving water, and reducing plastic use, contribute to a healthier environment.

Question 22.

- are essential for human survival but often overlooked in the economy
- that are distant from urban areas and require economically protection

C. whose importance is often overlooked in favor of economic growth

D. of which importance with oversight in preference to economic growth

Question 23.

A. that have greenhouse gas emissions gradually reduce

B. is enhanced by reducing greenhouse gas emissions

C. having been enhanced by reducing greenhouse gas emissions

D. on which greenhouse gas emissions are slowly reduced

Question 24.

A. investing in green technologies is crucial for technologies

B. making a significant investment in modern green technologies

C. a significant investment in green technologies must make

D. we must make a significant investment in green technologies

Question 25.

A. We reduce carbon footprints so that sustainability is promoted

B. Without reducing carbon footprints, we could promote sustainability

C. This reduces carbon footprints and promotes sustainability

D. Reducing carbon footprints, sustainability is promoted

Question 26.

A. We can achieve greater impact through collective action

B. No one in our community can achieve greater impact

C. Our community can achieve greater impact individually

D. Improved the policies, we can achieve greater impact

Read the following passage and mark the letter A, B, C or D on your answer sheet to indicate the best answer to each of the following questions from 27 to 34.

In recent decades, rapid (a) nhanh advancements (n) sự tiến bộ in science and technology have profoundly (adv) sâu sắc reshaped (v) hình thành lại modern life from household management to healthcare and urban development.

Scientific and technological innovations have become inextricably integrated (v) tích hợp in daily life, fundamentally transforming how individuals perform routine activities. Smart systems, powered by artificial intelligence and interconnected infrastructures (n) cơ sở vật chất, enable users to regulate (v) kiểm soát, điều chỉnh domestic functions such as illumination, thermal conditions, and security with remarkable precision (n) sự chính xác. By assimilating (v) đồng hóa data from disparate (a) khác nhau sources, these systems generate adaptive environments that respond dynamically to users' behavioural patterns.

A prominent (a) nổi bật application can be observed in energy optimisation tối ưu hóa năng lượng. Sophisticated monitoring devices allow households to analyse consumption patterns and adjust điều chỉnh usage accordingly. Certain appliances are programmed to operate during off-peak (a) thấp điểm intervals (n) khoảng thời gian, while surplus energy derived from bắt nguồn từ renewable sources may be conserved for subsequent (a) tiếp theo utilisation (n) sự sử dụng. Consequently, overall efficiency is augmented, although the amount of money saved may fluctuate depending on consumption habits.

Technological advancements have also redefined healthcare practices. Wearable (a) có thể đeo được devices continuously register physiological indicators, including heart rate variability (n) sự thay đổi and sleep quality, transmitting such data to digital platforms for comprehensive analysis. These systems are capable of detecting anomalies and issuing early alerts (n) sự cảnh báo, thereby enabling users to undertake (v) đảm nhận preventive measures before minor conditions deteriorate. Nevertheless, their efficiency remains contingent (a) ngẫu nhiên upon users' responsiveness to the feedback provided.

Furthermore, smart urban infrastructures have enhanced the administration (n) sự quản lý of public systems. Real-time data collected from sensors embedded (v) được gắn vào in transport networks facilitate the optimisation of traffic flow and the mitigation of congestion (n) sự tắc nghẽn. While such systems cannot entirely eradicate (v) loại bỏ delays, they substantially enhance efficiency and alleviate (v) làm nhẹ environmental impact. These developments underscore (v) đánh giá thấp the role of technology in fostering sustainable and manageable urban environments.

In conclusion, technological innovations continue to play a vital role in improving various aspects of human life. While they offer substantial benefits in efficiency, healthcare, and urban management, their limitations highlight the need for responsible and effective use to maximise their potential.
