Token Whitepaper

Overview

- Overview

(Angry Redhead) ANGRcoin is a digital token deployed on the Base Network, an Ethereum Layer 2 blockchain. The project is part of a broader character-driven brand initiative focused on creative expression, digital experimentation, and interactive content.

(ANGR) is designed to support engagement within small-scale digital experiences and brand-related interactive features. Its purpose is centered on participation and functionality within the Angry Redhead ecosystem, rather than serving as a financial instrument or investment product.

The Angry Redhead brand is built around a fictional character used for visual identity, casual interactive applications, and experimental digital content. This character provides a consistent creative theme across various platforms and media formats developed under the Angry Redhead name.

All publicly available contract information is transparent and verifiable through standard blockchain explorers. The project emphasizes responsible development practices and adapts over time based on technical considerations, platform requirements, and user interaction.

This document is provided for informational purposes only and is intended to describe the general structure and creative direction of the (Angry Redhead)ANGRcoin project.

1. VISION & PURPOSE

1. VISION & PURPOSE

(Angry Redhead) ANGRcoin is a character-driven digital brand built around creativity, community engagement, and interactive experiences. The project is designed to explore how recognizable characters, simple gameplay mechanics, and digital assets can be combined to create entertaining and accessible online experiences.

At its core, the Angry Redhead brand centers on a fictional character that represents humor, persistence, and individuality. This character serves as the creative anchor for visual content, casual interactive applications, and experimental digital concepts developed under the Angry Redhead name.

(ANGR) is intended to function as a utility element within this broader brand ecosystem. Its role is focused on enabling interaction, participation, and experimentation within small-scale digital experiences such as microgames and other interactive features. These experiences are designed primarily for entertainment and user engagement, rather than financial speculation.

The long-term vision for the Angry Redhead brand is to continue developing lightweight, accessible digital content that emphasizes creativity, user interaction, and community involvement. Development priorities may evolve over time based on technical feasibility, user feedback, and platform requirements, with an emphasis on responsible design and compliance with applicable platform policies.

This document is provided for informational purposes only and describes the general direction and creative intent of the (Angry Redhead)ANGRcoin project.

Future On-Chain Features to Include:

-  A global leaderboard for competitive gameplay
-  On-chain rewards and incentives using ANGR
-  Cross-platform Web3 integration
-  Community-driven updates and governance

The Angry Redheaded character-driven brand will continue to grow across both traditional and decentralized platforms, blending attitude, humor, culture, and crypto into one unified ecosystem.

Project Leadership and Governance

The (Angry Redhead)ANGRcoin project is currently founded, developed, and managed by a single creator, ensuring a unified vision and consistent execution in its early stages. While the project is under sole ownership at present, there is a strategic plan to expand into a structured team or board. This future governance model will bring together diverse expertise in blockchain development, community engagement, marketing, and game design to guide ANGR's long-term growth. The transition to a broader leadership structure will be implemented transparently, with the community kept informed at each stage.

Anti-Rug Mechanism: 100% (LP Tokens) Liquidity Burned

To ensure long-term security and community trust, (100%) of the token's liquidity was permanently  burned following a token migration from a moonshot project to the newly bonded ANGR token on Uniswap. This critical move eliminates the possibility of rug pulls and reinforces the project's long-term commitment to transparency and decentralization. BaseScan

*This transparent approach allows the ANGR token to remain open for trading while retaining full decentralization and eliminating founder-controlled liquidity risks.

 Owner/Creator Boosts Liquidity (to reduce volatility for the live trading market and sustainable growth)

To establish a less volatile trading market, a small amount of fresh liquidity was manually added and will periodically continue to add to the ANGR/WETH pool on Uniswap. While this new liquidity is not locked, it is publicly verifiable and was added solely to initiate the pool for early adopters.

- Spending limits & community involvement
- Added transparency and accountability

*This structure ensures that no single party can misuse project funds, while fostering decentralized trust.

3. UTILITIES & ECOSYSTEM

Current Utilities

Future Utilities

-  Expanded Play-to-Earn Ecosystem – Introduction of new Web3 games under the Angry Redhead brand, integrating ANGR into gameplay rewards and economies.
-  Token Farming – A dedicated farming system, distinct from staking, enabling holders to earn additional rewards through liquidity contributions or event-based participation.
-  Marketplace Integration – Development of an NFT and in-game asset marketplace where ANGR will be a primary medium of exchange.
-  Token Burns – Strategic and event-driven burns to permanently reduce supply, increasing scarcity and potential value.
-  DAO Governance – Gradual transition from sole ownership to a board or decentralized governance model, empowering holders to vote on development, utility expansion, and ecosystem direction.
