The National Certificate: Vocational or NC (V) is an alternative option and equivalent to a Matric Certificate. Programmes are aimed at developing students in a certain specialisation with practical skills and knowledge that leads to a strong career pathway. Students completing their National Certificates have 4 open book Virtual Term assessments and one practical at a Hybrid centre towards the end of the year in order to complete the course for a NQF4 certificate. Homeschooled students can get support at their local learning centre or from a tutor or a mentor. After completion of your NQF Matric, you could enrol for any one of Hybrid's other accredited courses.

Hybrid Academy is registered with QCTO and offers NQF 2-5 National Certificate Occupational Programs to learners. CiPC registration number 2017/104349/07 and SACE number PRC0001119.

Our presenting therapists are SETA NQF5 Facilitators and Assessors. Hybrid are affiliates to ASCHP as Approved Training Provider.

General Questions & Answers

[09:39, 28/07/2024] Hester Catharina van Dyk wrote: You're right — "entrepreneur" often signals business-only to many people, even though our program seems broader, skill-focused, and customizable. If the aim is to show that students can pursue any skill area (Childcare, Nature conservation, hair&nails, IT, Baking, Counseling, Training, Space, Solar, Further study etc.) and still learn how to turn it into an income-generating opportunity, you may want to use terms that communicate personal empowerment, skills application, and self-reliance, rather than traditional "business" language - it's actually more of a New Venture - Career Starter National Certificate.

Can I study further at a university like UCT?
Each university has different requirements and we cannot speak on their behalf, however it is your duty to check and confirm with your university admin office (NOT CHATBOTS) for further admission studies.

Below is a confirmation from UCT regarding acceptance for our students on the National Certificate, they do accept students that completed a NQF National certificate Occupational (vocational) program to enroll into their NQF5 programs leading to a Degree in their field of interest.
