Misc. things that may be of note

- Armor subject was wearing when it was apprehended is estimated to be over 1000 years old
- Entrance to the tomb was walled off before archeologists opened it
- The bricks were painted in a way that when put together would create the image of a large sun wheel
- The other side of the wall had the nordic rune "Thurisaz" carved into the bricks

Details

- Found in Aust-Agder, Norway
- came onto the foundation's radar after a team of archeologists went missing and only one surfaced, the sole survivor making his way to a fishing village a few miles away raving about a "tomb monster in the forest" before succumbing to his injuries
- (I feel like there should be a middle part but I don't know what)
- MTF Epsilon-6 is dispatched to contain scp-xxxx
- MTF arrives at tomb and after sustaining casualties apprehends xxxx
- xxxx is taken to site/area-xx
