09:00:53 From Derrick Gwinner to Everyone : Love the tunes

09:01:40 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : @Derrick you can't go wrong with the Black Pumas!!

09:39:55 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : Game design is one of the majors at CCS and it is such an incredible process! Incredibly complex!

09:40:24 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : @Derrick..thank you for bringing attention to the creativity and artistry in the vistas of video games!! As a mom of gamers it helps unpack my understanding!

09:42:56 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : One of my student teachers started an after school art club, the 5th and 6th graders elected to build a virtual world to interact in since they could not in real life. They were all reluctant to interact on zoom, but virtual realities, once they built, created a complex artistically designed interactive spaces, additionally, they explored "identities" designed personal spaces etc.

09:44:17 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Yes!!!! How do we manage what carries over from gaming in the classroom?

09:44:54 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : Global classrooms!

09:45:26 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : A common space to explore cultural diversity

09:45:39 From David Anderson to Everyone : BLOXELs is a great intro-advanced video game design platform <https://edu.bloxelsbuilder.com/>

09:46:30 From Carlyn Apley to Everyone : Cross curricular with creating narratives, histories, etc.

09:46:31 From Derrick Gwinner to Everyone : I've been thinking about applying a similar club format to Bloxels!

09:46:50 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : @David, that looks super cool!!!!

09:47:42 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Carlyn...I'm seeing some interesting writing and making that could come from that too!

09:48:56 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : This is also an example of an integrated literacies as authorship is subsumed into design and storytelling to action!

09:50:09 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : I love you are breaking stereotypes!!!

09:50:26 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Great work Derrick!!!

09:50:54 From Amber Ward to Everyone : Derrick, brilliant presentation. I learned so much!!

09:50:58 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Questions for Derrick?? Post them here!

09:51:37 From Bethanie Irons to Everyone : I always look forward to seeing your whiteboards on Instagram, Carlyn. They are brilliant!

09:51:44 From Carlyn Apley to Everyone : Thanks!

09:52:49 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : I love seeing Carlyn's inspirational white board drawings too!

09:53:16 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : I am amazed at what she can do with Expo markers!!!

09:53:25 From Trudy Denham to Everyone : Derrick, do you have suggestions on what software to use for game design? Someone suggested BLOXELs, are there others?

09:55:12 From David Anderson to Everyone : @Amy and everyone its so amazing, character creation, level design from foreground to background. We use it for camps at The Magic House as well as an exhibit in our second location.

09:55:44 From mary to Everyone : Carlyn, this reminds me of graffiti boards I've used for assessment. I love the optional, organic nature of these. They so quickly become wonderful works of collaborative art!

09:55:46 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : @Carlyn, when you post these on instagram, can they likewise respond there as well?

09:56:03 From Sheryl Lamme to Everyone : Carlyn, I LOVE this! Will be implementing in my elementary classes Monday

09:56:29 From Nina Angelillo to Everyone : W O W!

09:56:31 From Carlyn Apley to Everyone : They could if they follow me! During quarantine I had some do that since it was all electronic.

09:56:36 From Derrick Gwinner to Everyone : The tricky thing is finding a design tool with the kind of immediacy that Mario Maker provides. Bloxels is good but it's a bit more complex and I haven't tried it with my kiddos yet. I tried a program called Scratch in the past but most kids got bored with it before they created anything viable. Something I say in the paper that I based the presentation on: Programming can be a creative act but it begins as a rote exercise. So trying to get past that can be difficult.

09:56:40 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : I love that someone wrote pop rocks!!!

09:57:08 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : I bet the students look forward to seeing your whiteboards every Monday and know that they too can contribute to the class conversation!

09:57:49 From Derrick Gwinner to Everyone : @David What age kiddos do you typically do Bloxels with?

09:58:05 From mary to Everyone : This would definitely have caused me to rush to art class each day!

09:58:51 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : I love that students were also including drawings on this one!

09:59:10 From Carlyn Apley to Everyone : Yeah sometimes they do! haha

09:59:22 From shirley.boudreaux to Everyone : The freedom to share

09:59:32 From Carlyn Apley to Everyone : Kids know so many obscure movies!

09:59:45 From mary to Everyone : Love that this could be adapted to a Jamboard activity to engage remote students.

10:00:05 From Nina Angelillo to Everyone : Love the crossword idea! Yes, agree that can be so adaptable for remote or on a Smartboard, etc.

10:01:10 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Connection even when we are apart!

10:01:44 From mary to Everyone : LOVE that you opened it up to other teachers! Great school community builder.

10:02:37 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : You could use a Jamboard or padlet so in person and online students can all contribute :)

10:02:37 From David Anderson to Everyone : @Derrick we interact on a day to day basis with ages <5 - 14<. We worked directly with Bloxels to make a special exhibit that only allows the kids to make their character/hero. But in camps we use the full EDU version with our 11-13 YO

10:03:44 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Great questions to think about Carlyn!

10:03:56 From mary to Everyone : I will definitely borrow this idea for my distance learners!

10:04:32 From Amber Ward to Everyone : Thank you, Carlyn!!

10:04:34 From Lydia Clark to Everyone : Love that both of these help students make connections with each other and help see us teachers as people who have some of the same interests as they do. It really elevates their ideas, perspectives, and interests.

10:04:41 From shirley.boudreaux to Everyone : @Mary yes is would be a great for distance learners.

10:04:42 From Carlyn Apley to Everyone : Mary I also do remote VTS in my Daily Check Ins with my remote students each week!

10:05:13 From mary to Everyone : YEAH!!

10:05:37 From Derrick Gwinner to Everyone : VTS adapted to Zoom beautifully

10:05:42 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : HI Nina! It is so great to see you!

10:06:05 From Nina Angelillo to Everyone : Hi! So happy to be here!

10:06:33 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : I love seeing this excellent cross curricular collaboration!

10:07:09 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : It is wonderful that your district is supporting this kind of thinking and collaboration across age and discipline. You are both teachers of literacy!

10:07:59 From mary to Everyone : I, too, love the multi-age and cross-literacy approach!

10:08:18 From Nina Angelillo to Everyone : Thank you! We are lucky to be able to collaborate through the "flip the classroom" initiative our district implemented last year...this has been one of the most rewarding experiences :)

10:08:23 From David Anderson to Everyone : Im not in a typical classroom but have been a virtual field trip guide in many classrooms that never could have visited us in person. This distance learning has opened so many opportunities for our young artists

10:08:29 From Carlyn Apley to Everyone : Love those covers!

10:08:54 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : It is also great that you both created teacher exemplars so that you could fully understand what you were asking your students to do and produce.

10:09:21 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Building bridges!!

10:10:55 From mary to Everyone : I am so glad these presentations are being saved so we can revisit them later. I will definitely linter with and ponder each!

10:11:25 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : I love that students are able to work on ideas they are passionate about over time

10:11:56 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : Yes our goal is to create a collective space with options to contribute and return.

10:12:11 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : So powerful!

10:12:18 From Michelle Livek Garner to Everyone : Nina and Adam!! Like.. whaaaattttt!!! Yes!! Can I share this approach/strategy/brilliance with my pre-service teachers this coming fall????? And, how can I get y'all to jump into a class with my pre-service teachers so that you can be invited experts??? Over the moon about how you approached "big idea" from a both a humanities and scientific perspective.

10:12:25 From shirley.boudreaux to Everyone : Wonderful

10:12:43 From Valerie Wedel to Everyone : Love this!

10:12:57 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : This is wonderful!!!!

10:13:14 From Lydia Clark to Everyone : This will lend well to my Artist Collectives in the Classrooms that I hope to implement next year at Locust.

10:13:28 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : Yes the inspirations seeds are already flying across the country!

10:13:36 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Woot woot!

10:13:40 From Nina Angelillo to Everyone : Thank you! :)

10:13:46 From Zachary Bond to Everyone : I love the idea of having guest artists coming in and talking with the students

10:14:01 From mary to Everyone : Lydia, I am also seeing a way to use this to address the "Presenting" SRG at CPS

10:16:38 From Shalonda Akiode to Everyone : This lesson was AMAZING!!!

10:17:13 From Derrick Gwinner to Everyone : And so many kiddos were excited to use Snapseed again in your later sculpture lesson too!

10:17:14 From Lydia Clark to Everyone : Yay!!! Thank you, Shalonda!

10:18:00 From Lydia Clark to Everyone : I found that to be true too, Derrick. Students are loving Snapseed, and they even did Multiple Exposures of their installation sculpture images.

10:18:18 From Derrick Gwinner to Everyone : Yes, mine did too!

10:21:14 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : A great book by Thomas and Seeley Brown is Pragmatic Imagination1

10:21:40 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : Yes to JOY! And mattering!

10:22:02 From Shalonda Akiode to Everyone : YES OMG LYDIA!!

10:22:29 From Michelle Livek Garner to Everyone : Whoa... this is incredible synthesis... mic drop Lydia!!!

10:23:41 From Lydia Clark to Everyone : Kathy, that book is on my list to get.

10:23:58 From Lydia Clark to Everyone : Thanks, Liv!

10:24:04 From Amy Ruopp to Everyone : Love the concept of "filter"

10:24:12 From mary to Everyone : John-Marshall Reeve's identification and discussion of agentic engagement comes to mind here, Lydia!

10:24:27 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : YEs!!! Its about them!

10:25:11 From Amber Ward to Everyone : Ohhh love that!

10:25:43 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : The students' portraits are nuanced and sophisticated!

10:35:12 From Kathleen Unrath to Everyone : Advocacy is so important! Exhibitions are critically important!

11:00:00 From Lauren Hermann to Everyone : Art seeding conversations

11:01:18 From mary to Everyone : Wow. I think we assume that since our kids are surrounded by so much imagery, they don't notice things. Exciting to see this assumption isn't accurate!

11:02:11 From Trudy Denham to Everyone : I live in an area that is considered Far and Remote by the department of Agriculture. This would be a fabulous idea for our area to help not just students, but ALL people connect to the arts.

11:26:25 From shirley.boudreaux to Everyone : As teacher we have to change with that is going on in the classroom at the time.

11:26:46 From mary to Everyone : I think COVID has shown that improvisation and embracing being put on the spot should be a whole class in and of itself. Love that you are naming this, Liv!!
