

Escape Room med engelsk grammatik - Eva Pors

WELCOME

What you didn't know
When you went to this room
Was that today it was possessed
By sheer gloom and doom.

A person of such evil
Has grabbed hold of your mind
And the only way out
Is to solve the puzzles designed.

Know your grammar, get it right
Or forever you'll stay
In the claws of the Grammar Nazi
- And one very long school day.

So quickly, get going,
And find your next clue
In the very next section
By typing in "breakthrough".

GOOD LUCK.

YOU HAVE ONE HOUR.

FOR EACH CLUE YOU MAY NEED FROM YOUR TEACHER,
YOU WILL GET 5 VALUABLE MINUTES ADDED TO YOUR TIME.

TASK 1

Declaration is one, and so is independence,
So is happiness and actually also vengeance.
You're looking for a wordclass, and from the top you must find five.

Put the fifth one in plural and that's the password for you to survive.

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness”

TASK 2

This task won't be easy, so beware of getting left behind.
Those verbs that seem to suffer are what you have to find.
Take the first letter of the main verbs in passive; there are three.
And those letters are the cues you need to get free.

But one hundred years later, the Negro still is not free. One hundred years later, the life of the Negro is still sadly crippled by the manacles of segregation and the chains of discrimination. One hundred years later, the Negro lives on a lonely island of poverty in the midst of a vast ocean of material prosperity. One hundred years later, the Negro is still languished in the corners of American society and finds himself an exile in his own land. And so we've come here today to dramatize a shameful condition.

In a sense we've come to our nation's capital to cash a check. When the architects of our republic wrote the magnificent words of the Constitution and the Declaration of Independence, they were signing a promissory note to which every American was to fall heir. This note was a promise that all men, yes, black men as well as white men, would be guaranteed the "unalienable Rights" of "Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

(From: Martin Luther King's "I Have a Dream"-speech)

TASK 3

Before the next task you must first compose
A few lines of either poetry or prose.
They must contain a metaphor and a rhyme,
As well as a word of onomatopoeia from the lines must chime.

Take the verses you create (remember, do your best!)
To your teacher who will then give you the materials for your next quest.

The password for the next task is four little words
That you must put together from the labyrinth's herds
Of letters that can only be found
If you find the right way around.

Find link til [labyrinten her og print den til eleverne].

TASK 4

Good job, you've made it so far, but now you must listen
And find 8 adjectives that make the nouns glisten.
Only use the very first minute to find,
The 8 nouns that these decorative adjectives defined.
Take the first letter of those 8 nouns and then
You have your strange password to get closer to the end.

TASK 5

You know, there doesn't seem to be a single nation
Without a leader who enjoys a good alliteration.
Find five of those in JFK's speech,
Take these letters, and your next task is close within reach.

Let every nation know, whether it wishes us well or ill, that we shall pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe, in order to assure the survival and the success of liberty.

TASK 6

Malapropisms make the Grammar Nazi cringe!
So to get out and get the locks to unhinge
Correct all the sentences, and as often before
Note the first letter of each word to unlock the final door.

1. Their will be a lot of malapropisms on this page!
2. Your wrong!
3. I think that his post about his Catholic upbringing tells us quiet a lot about where he's coming from.
4. After looking into the Wikipedia administrator's page, he was obviously very interested in politics.
5. The 2012 Olympic Games will be the biggest commercial farce ever and London the loser.
6. On the other hand maybe a clean cut could be healthy. Start from scrap as we did.
7. This result was a result of poor coaching, plane and simple.
8. It is worth mentioning that they play descent technically skilled football.
9. Why do England fans think that they have the divine rite to be at every championship?
10. Most of us don't wholeheartedly agree with the organisations that we work for, but it shouldn't mean we have to leave on principal .
11. We are already approaching a point where the public is loosing faith in the police and legal system.

12. There are people out there more than happy to gambol with their health.

13. People are scarred to say what they want and what they think because only some opinions are acceptable.

This task won't be easy, but don't get left behind
Don't be passive; be the agent and go right ahead, find those verbs that seem to suffer and take the first letter
of three suffering main verbs, and that will be you next thread.
