

10 Minutes of social media attention and why

In this 10 minute window I use different platforms like Facebook, Instagram, Tik Tok and Twitter. What I was attracted to was Motivational quotes, Pot Casts and Engineering hacks that people create to do jobs easier.

The motivational and pot cast have some correlation among them, they share some insight about different topics and perspectives that people have and opinions about the topic they are discussing at the moment.

The engineering hacks for jobs are impressive to me because there are people out there that share how they perform on another level in tasks that people don't see value. Common things that all of these 3 have is that they are innovative concepts and evolving ideas that make or create an impact in our current life. I believe that's why it gets my attention because it resonates with me a lot.
