Teacher Control Panel for Aspen — Privacy Policy

Last updated: November 8, 2026

Teacher Control Panel for Aspen is a browser extension for teachers. It moves the teacher's own gradebook from Teacher Control Panel into the teacher's Aspen gradebook pages.

What it reads. When the teacher clicks Paste from TCP or Check with TCP, it reads the gradebook the teacher copied from Teacher Control Panel (class, assignments, student names, scores, comment codes) from the clipboard. On Aspen's gradebook pages it reads the page itself: the class, its assignments, students and scores, so it can match them.

What it writes. Only into Aspen, through Aspen's own score entry and assignment forms, when the teacher clicks Fill or Add.

What it keeps. In the browser's own extension storage, on that computer only: which class, students and assignments matched which in Aspen, the last paste (so it can be undone), and the dark mode setting. Removing the extension removes them.

What it sends. Nothing. It has no server, no analytics, no tracking and no account. It runs only on Aspen pages (myfollett.com) and makes no network requests of its own; the only requests are Aspen's own, made by Aspen's page when a score or an assignment is saved, exactly as when the teacher types it.

Who sees the data. Nobody but the teacher and Aspen. Student data is never sold, shared or used for anything else.

Questions: the teacher who shared the extension with you.
