David was invited to a party of the popular people of the school. He wants a new shirt but he doesn't like shopping. He went to a store that sold clothes. There David accidentally bought socks.

David can't believe it! He's going to need a plan B! David has to buy a new shirt because he doesn't have any new shirts in his closet.

He has an idea. He tells his grandmother, “Grandma, do you like to shop?”

His grandmother answers, “Yes, I like to shop a lot.”

He makes the decision. His grandmother has to buy the shirt for him. He says to his grandmother, “Perfect. I need a new shirt for the party but I don't like to shop. Will you shop for me?”

His grandmother answers him, “Yes, son. No problem. I'm going shopping for you.”

Five hours later, his grandmother comes home with a new shirt. She gives the shirt to David. On Friday, David wears the shirt to the party.

Everyone at the party tells him, “I like your shirt, kid. It's similar to the shirts my grandfather wears.”

David is happy.
